By ERNEST B. VACCARO
ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN (AP)—President Truman is now convinced the Democrats will win next Tuesday's election, a top aide said today, while one of his chief political advisers forecast a win by a minimum score of 294 to 237 electoral votes.

The adviser, Frank McKinney, former Democratic national chairman, who rode the Truman campaign train this week, based his prediction on figures which would give the Republicans some states where he said he thinks Adlai Stevenson has a good chance of coming through.

Windup in St. Louis
The White House aide said Truman has not told his staff what states he thinks Stevenson will carry.

They would allow the Republicans states like California, Maryland, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and others "where we've certainly got bright prospects," McKinney said.

Meanwhile, the President devoted his final day of campaigning to whistle-stop talks in Indiana and Illinois en route to St. Louis to end up his campaign with a major prepared speech.

He did so after blasting Dwight D. Eisenhower before a cheering crowd of 3,000 in Cincinnati's Music Hall for "impugning the character and patriotism of his former associates." He also called GOP vice presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon a man with "an unsavory financial record."

Yugoslav Reds To Defy Russia

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
ZAGREB, Yugoslavia (AP)—Yugoslavia's 700,000 Communists, ruling a nation of 17 million, open their sixth party Congress here tomorrow. The program seems aimed at strengthening domestic controls while continuing to exhibit defiance of the Soviet Union.

Premier Marshal Josip Broz Tito, secretary-general and boss of the party, will give a four-hour report to the 2,300 delegates outlining this country's perilous position since Yugoslavia's Communists were booted out of the Russian-led Cominform in 1948. He will present stern measures outlined by his ruling Politburo to combat the Cominform's anti-Tito campaign of propaganda, economic warfare and border threats.

Tito is expected to stress that while there is growing co-operation with the West, this country is not abandoning the "true" principles of Leninism and communism. The four-day meeting will hear from Yugoslavia's leaders that it was Russia which betrayed those principles with a swing to imperialism unparalleled even by the regimes of the czars.

Young Mother Killed By Halloween Rocket

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—A young mother watching a Halloween fireworks display with her 6-week-old baby in her arms was struck and killed last night by a skyrocket that tipped over just after it was lit.

The victim was Mrs. George Peppin, 27. Her husband was standing beside her when the rocket hit her in the head. Peppin and the baby were uninjured.

Ecorse Negro Segregation In Schools Halted

LANSING (AP)—The Ecorse public school system was told today it must end a sort of voluntary segregation of Negroes.

Dr. Lee M. Thurston, state superintendent of public instruction, said he had written Ralph E. Brant, superintendent of the Ecorse Board of Education must establish complete attendance areas for the C. J. Miller elementary school and Elementary School No. 3 along Outer Drive.

He said a complaint was registered by Senator Charles S. C. Diggs, Jr., (D-Detroit) that the board was permitting segregation of Negroes and caucasian students by leaving a segment between the two schools as an unallocated area in which parents could send their children to either school.

The result, Dr. Thurston said, is that parents of white children send their youngsters to one school and those of colored children to the other.

Dr. Thurston said that "this optional area families sort themselves out by color," but that the state law requires school districts to designate attendance areas definitely and that another state law forbids any segregation because of race or color.

Prison Is State Election Issue

By The Associated Press
Operation of the vast Southern Michigan Prison, one of the bitterest bones of contention in the state political campaign, reared up again today as a major issue between Republicans and Democrats.

Governor Williams charged that the Republicans were attempting to "use" inmates of the Jackson institution to further their cause.

Such tactics, he said have brought on "renewed tension" after things had quieted down since the mutiny and riot in April.

Fred M. Alger, Jr., who is seeking Williams' job, told a Detroit audience last night that the governor was wrong when he claimed that no scandal had hit his administration.

Said Alger: "Gov. Williams has covered up and tolerated an administration of the Michigan State Fair guilty of a $7,500 shakedown, of swindling the public and of cheating the state out of untold thousands of dollars. His administration has handled lush political plums to men with criminal records. It has permitted ex-convicts, gamblers and questionable characters to gain a foothold in the liquor business."

A Negro Democratic leader meanwhile announced that he is switching his support to Republican Presidential Candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower. Emmett S. Cunningham, president of the National Council of Negro Democrats, made the announcement in letters to local leaders of his organization around the country.

Oil-Fed Fire Ruins Factory In Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—An oil-fed five-alarm fire raced through a section of a west side Jefferson avenue factory today.

Six men in the building escaped to safety as flames shot along from a broken oil line.

An hour after the blaze broke out firemen reported it under control. Flames swept the big lower room of the five-story building, used by the Detroit-Timken Axle Co. for its heat treat department.

Heavy Taxes Fail To Stop Gambling

By FRANK O'BRIEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The law that was to force most gamblers to pay heavy taxes or put them out of business—one year old today—has done neither in its first year.

Frank Lohn, chief of the Internal Revenue Bureau's intelligence division, in an interview summing up a year's administration of the law said it has brought in only a fraction of the expected revenue, and has not materially reduced gambling.

Gone Underground
The government collected probably less than nine million dollars in taxes, compared with congressional estimates the take might be 400 million.

And, Lohn said, instead of being forced out of business, gamblers "have just gone underground."

However, he added the law is a "deterrent to the gambling fraternity."

Immediately after it went into effect he said there was a large

Three UN Red Suspects Fired

(UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Informed sources said last night that the United Nations has fired three of 10 American employees put on compulsory leave last week after they refused to answer a U. S. Senate subcommittee's questions on alleged Communist activity.

The dismissals from the U. N. Secretariat had not yet been announced officially but are understood to have become effective Wednesday.

The three were identified as: Alfred J. Van Tassel, chief of the Economic Section of the Special Projects Division, Technical Assistance Administration, whose net salary was listed as $9,000.

Herbert Schimmel, economics affairs officer, Department of Economic Affairs, $8,500 salary.

Herman Zap, fellowship officer, Technical Assistance Administration, $6,625 salary.

Contract Signed For Pay Raise In Hard Coal Mines

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis and hard coal operators signed a new contract today raising the wages of 65,000 anthracite miners $1.90 a day effective Nov. 16.

The new contract is subject to approval by the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) which recently chopped 40 cents off a similar agreement reached by Lewis and the soft coal industry.

The new hard coal contract was announced by Thomas Kennedy, vice president of the United Mine Workers, and Edward G. Fox who led the operators' negotiating team.

The agreement was worked out in a session which lasted until nearly midnight last night.

Angry Convicts Quelled After 6-Hour Rampage

COLUMBUS, O., (AP)—Ohio Penitentiary officials—mopping up after a six-hour million-dollar Halloween riot by 2,000 convicts who didn't like their food—made ready today to move 200 prisoners to other Ohio prisons.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said the transfer was necessary to meet the emergency created by the destruction or serious damage of eight prison buildings, including the commissary, mess hall and kitchen.

Furnishings Smashed
The warden faced a problem in feeding the more than 4,000 convicts. He solved it temporarily by arranging to give them sandwiches for breakfast.

The warden asked Gen. Albert Henderson, the Ohio adjutant general, to hold his 600 Ohio National Guardsmen on standby alert to meet any new threat of last night's rioting.

Furnishings and equipment, even in cellblocks, were beaten into wreckage.

Mass Escape Fails
Milling convicts, spurred to anger by the needling of ring-leaders, threatened for a time to attempt a mass escape over the prison's 30-foot wall. Thirty-five grim guards, armed with sub-machine guns, stood their ground. Somehow the escape attempt, if it was in the convicts' minds, never jelled.

Quickly the state and city marshaled forces, pouring 250 guards and officers into the flaming prison compound. Six hundred Ohio National Guardsmen were called in.

Fighting Bitter On Triangle Hill

By STAN CARTER
SEOUL (AP)—South Korean infantrymen clawed slowly up the shell-blasted slopes of Triangle Hill today while Allied warplanes blasted the Chinese-held crest in an effort to cut down Red firepower.

The indomitable ROKs were fighting to regain the prized Central Front peak where hundreds of their countrymen, in "gallant disobedience of orders," sacrificed themselves yesterday to block a Red smash into the main Allied line.

Ordered to retreat when the Chinese attacked in waves before dawn, they stayed and died on the barren peak.

The way back was slow and bloody. But Allied air strikes at the crest were slowing the Communist fire.

Nursing Home Fire Takes Lives Of 18 Elderly Patients

HILLSBORO, Mo. (AP)—Eighteen elderly patients died last night as fire roared through a three-story nursing home here.

Most of the dead were trapped on the third floor of the stone structure. Other bodies were found a floor below.

A nurse first discovered the blaze about 5:45 p.m. as sparks and smoke came from a ceiling of the first floor between the main building and an annex.

The fire spread quickly up stairways and along corridors as attendants tried to get the 85 residents, several of them invalids, out of the building.

Hillsboro Fire Chief Richard King said the blaze apparently began in a men's wash room on the first floor. He made no damage estimate on the main building, which he called a total loss.

At least 36 other residents were reported injured. They were taken in ambulances to hospitals in the St. Louis area.

People Want Change And They'll Get It, Eisenhower Predicts

By RELMAN MORIN
CHICAGO (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower pushed his presidential campaign toward a climax today with an assertion that the American people are demanding a change of government, and the confident prediction—

"That demand will be satisfied four days from now."

Eisenhower returns to New York today after a final foray into Illinois, the home state of his opponent, Gov. Adlai Stevenson. He has a nationwide television appearance, in the form of an interview, tonight at 10 p.m., EST over NBC.

Sticks To 4 Issues
His last major speech, before the voting begins, is scheduled to be delivered in Boston Monday night.

As the campaign drew near an end, Eisenhower held inexorably to what he says are the four central issues—"Korea, communism, corruption and peace based on prosperity."

In his appearances in Chicago yesterday, he said the Democrats are trying to fog over these questions by personal attack on him, and by spreading a fear campaign.

He ridiculed the personal criticisms by reminding his audiences that his opponents wanted him to be their candidate four years ago. And he said the people are not being frightened by Democratic claims that a GOP victory would mean another depression, cuts in social security and so on.

Optimism Growing
He told a Chicago audience last night: "The extraordinary thing is that the opposition thought the American people would be so blind, so beaten down by seven years of Fair Deal misrule that they would not rise up and demand a change, a change to a government of honesty, vision and courage."

"But that demand will be satisfied—four days from now."

Victory claims are standard fixtures in every political campaign, but Eisenhower's statement reflects the atmosphere of optimism.

Democrats Accused Of Trying To Hide Suspicious Tax Case

By WARREN ROGERS Jr.
WASHINGTON (AP)—A crossfire of denials and reports built up today after a Republican congressman accused Secretary of the Treasury Snyder and other top Democrats of trying to hide a "highly suspicious" connection with a multimillion-dollar tax case.

The counterblasts called the charge a political "last-minute dirty deal."

Scandal In Spotlight
Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, a Republican member of the House ways and means subcommittee, which has spotlighted a series of revenue bureau scandals, contended in a statement yesterday:

1. That the Truman administration in attempting a "gross cover-up" of revenue bureau documents relating to a movie industry tax settlement.

2. That Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap's role in the case disqualifies him from his job and "strongly indicates the much heralded cleanup of the Bureau of Internal Revenue is a sham and deceit."

3. That "the real reason and the only reason why the . . . documents have not long since been made available to the subcommittee is because they will show the involvement of Mr. Snyder and other prominent Democrats in highly suspicious activities in this and other tax cases."

Dirty Deal Charged
Snyder and Dunlap sharply denied the accusations. Both were in Seattle for ceremonies installing new tax officials under the bureau's new reorganization program.

Snyder's office made public his wire to Rep. Cecil R. King of California, Democrat and subcommittee chairman. The wire said: "I am shocked at the politically inspired, false charges and innuendoes that have issued from members of your subcommittee in the last 24 hours."

One Body Left In Mine Blast

ALPENA (AP)—Efforts were resumed today to recover the body of the last of five men killed in a roaring mine explosion Thursday night at nearby Herron.

The five had been prospecting for uranium deposits in the long-abandoned, 280-foot vertical shaft.

Bodies of three of the men standing at the entrance to the mine at the time of the blast were recovered immediately. The fourth, that of Pat Chevalier, 34, of Herron, was found late yesterday.

The body of Chevalier's brother-in-law, Sieghard Domke, 47, also of Herron, still was in the depths of the shaft, which was believed to be filled with 100 feet of water.

Previously recovered were the bodies of John Wilczynski, 68, of Chicago, and Domke's two brothers, Henry, 37, and Bernard, 44. Wilczynski had leased the property and the others were working for him. A sixth man, John Pastuszka, Jr., of Chicago, miraculously escaped injury when he was blown out of a tool house.

Stevenson Stays In Midwest For Campaign Finale

By DON WHITEHEAD
Aboard Stevenson Train En Route to Ohio (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson campaigned into the Midwest today to stay through election day. He ended his swing in the East last night with a gloves-off attack on his opponent's foreign policy.

In a final bid for New York's 45 electoral votes, the Democratic presidential nominee brought cheer after cheer last night from a Brooklyn audience with his jabs at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Peace Pledge Ridiculed
Stevenson said that Eisenhower's pledge to go to Korea if he is elected was "a promise without a program" and he said he didn't think "that the American people are taken in."

He said the Republican presidential nominee was "seeking one easy solution after another for the Korean War" and attacked him for what he called a shift to the "Old Guard" line.

Eisenhower, he said, had commented that if there must be war in Korea it should be "Asians against Asians."

Nazi Menace Recalled
"In 1939 the Republican Old Guard, faced with the menace of the Nazi world, was content to say, 'Let Europeans fight Europeans,' ignoring completely the fact that the menace of Nazism was a menace to Americans as much as to Frenchmen and Englishmen."

Stevenson asserted that the general had "recklessly gambled with the confidence of our European Allies" and had shown "a willingness to undermine" the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. And on the Korean War, he said, Eisenhower has "sought out the possibilities of division and of mistrust."

Taking up Eisenhower's statement that he would go to Korea, Stevenson said that "unfortunately the ghost writer who provided the proposals failed to give the content" to a program.

"The general was to go to Korea" (Please Turn To Page 6, Col. 6)

Order Restored In Illinois Prison

CHESTER, Ill. (AP)—Order returned today to Menard State Penitentiary, where an ultimatum directed by Gov. Adlai Stevenson broke up a mutiny of 339 convicts.

The inmates released their seven hostage guards yesterday morning in the face of an advance by 120 heavily armed state policemen.

"It was my personal decision," Stevenson said, to make the ultimatum.

He broke off his presidential campaign to fly here Thursday night feeling the uprising "was my responsibility."

After the convicts ended their four-day mutiny he rejoined his campaign train in New York City last night.

The rebellion began Monday evening as inmates of the east cell block seized six guards and Prison Lt. Loren Stewart, 55, as they returned from their meal.

Efforts to negotiate a settlement by other state officials, including Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon, acting governor while Stevenson was out of the state, were unsuccessful.

When the rebellion ended Dixon said the state was under no obligation to negotiate with the convicts.

Stevenson said before he left that the plan which ended the rebellion was "a gamble that had to be taken."

Potato growers and others who attend the 23rd annual Upper Peninsula Potato Show at Crystal Falls on Nov. 6 will have an opportunity to hear some outstanding speakers from Michigan State College and the University of Wisconsin, as well as some leading potato growers and extension workers.

Heading the list of speakers on the afternoon program, which will be held in the courtroom, will be Dr. H. M. Darling, who is in charge of potato certification in Wisconsin. His topic will be "Seed Potato Production and Disease Problems in Wisconsin." Dr. Darling is also scheduled to judge the exhibits on Wednesday, November 5.

Madaski has also traveled to other states on organized potato tours.

The annual banquet will be held in the basement of the First Lutheran Church at Crystal Falls at 6:30 P. M., Nov. 6. Ben Weststrate, V. C. Facsimile Picture Transmission Plan Studied By W-U

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Va.—Long range plans for the development of a revolutionary new nationwide telegraph system to link together firms in distant cities by facsimile "picture" transmission methods designed and perfected by Western Union were disclosed today by Walter P. Marshall, president of Western Union.

"Record communications of the future—the Western Union of the years ahead," Marshall told the telegraph company's 1952 management conference, "will see the unchallengeable simplicity and efficiency of facsimile substituted for the letter-by-letter telegraph transmission of today."

In addition to nearly 30,000 facsimile machines now and in process for customer service throughout the country Western Union is installing many completely new facsimile systems called intrafax for use by businessmen in handling their intra-company communications from scattered departments, offices and buildings.

The lengthy list of industries and businesses that already have intrafax systems includes major banks, air lines, oil companies, automobile and other manufacturers, chemical plants, packing companies and department stores.

Plans for other new and improved public services made possible by Western Union's new mechanized transmission system were also reviewed at the conference.

Fire Destroys Hog Pen On Barron Farm At Flat Rock

Fire which broke out at 2:30 p. m. Friday in an 48 by 16 foot hog pen on the Frank Barron farm at Flat Rock, completely destroyed the insulated building and two sows and their litters housed in the pen.

The blaze threatened to spread to an adjacent machine shed in which $10,000 worth of farm machinery was stored but Barron aided by volunteers removed the machinery as the fire was brought under control by the Escanaba Fire Department.

Barron was burned on the left cheek in his efforts to keep the fire from spreading.

The blaze was first noted by George Holzgrebe, manager of the Delta Convalescent Home, who immediately called the Escanaba Fire Department.

The loss, estimated at $3,000, is covered by insurance. Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Know How To Mark Your Ballot; Save Your Vote

Do you know how to vote a straight, a split, and a mixed ticket? Are you sure that you can mark your ballot so your vote will be counted?

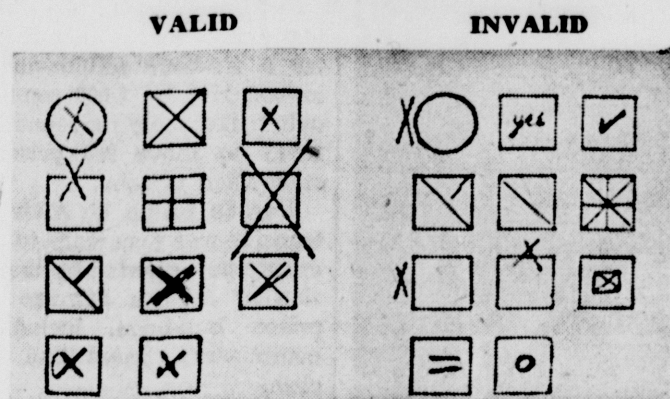

With the cooperation of Escanaba City Clerk George Harvey the following illustrations are presented to assist voters in properly marking their ballots when they enter the booth on election day.

1—The straight ticket is one which has been voted by placing a cross (X) in the circle at the top of a party column, thus indicating a straight vote.

2—The split ballot is one in which the cross (X) has been placed at the top of the party column and in addition some crosses have been placed before candidates of other parties.

3—In the mixed tickets, no cross (X) will appear at the heading of any party column, but there will be a cross (X) before candidates of more than one party as in the split ticket.

1—Valid markings (at left) are those which are permitted under law and clearly show the intent of the voter.

2—Invalid markings (right) are depicted to show how NOT to mark your ballot. Any ballot so marked will not be counted.

Be sure to vote—but mark your ballot so that it will be counted. If you make a mistake and spoil your ballot, inform the election board and a new set of ballots will be given you.

The session was selection of the site of the May 1953 regional meeting of the SPEBSQSA. This gathering was awarded to Sturgeon Bay, Wis., after an invitation submitted by a delegation of eight from the Wisconsin city, headed by George Resch, executive secretary of the Door County chamber of commerce.

Forest Fire Danger High

The increasing danger of forest fires in the Hiawatha National forest and adjoining areas was pointed out today by Lewis C. Harrison, Forest Service supervisor.

The unseasonable warm weather in addition to a record dry month of October has resulted in the serious fire conditions, he said.

All Ranger stations and lookouts are manned and equipment is in readiness to detect and suppress fires. However, the cooperation of all travelers, farmers and hunters is needed to provide the best means of preventing disastrous fires.

Present hazardous conditions will prevail until the area receives a good rain or snow.

All persons using the forests are urged to take extreme caution to avoid starting fires.

S. E. Decker, Escanaba weatherman, reports that October month was remarkable for its extreme dryness. Only .07-inch of rain fell, equalling the least amount ever recorded in any calendar month since weather records have been kept in Escanaba.

Increasing the fire hazard was an unusually dry September in which only 1.20 inches of rain fell. Actually, the last appreciable rainfall here was on Sept. 22 with .42-inch.

Red Jacket Days Program Is Set

Preliminary programming for the Escanaba Red Jacket Jamboree—a celebration marking the annual invasion of the Delta county hunting area for the November deer season—has been completed here by the retail division of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

John Ryan, retail division chairman, said the purpose of the Red Jacket Jamboree is to attract attention to the natural advantages of the hunting area and to plan entertainment for local and visiting deer slayers.

The program will receive its opening on Nov. 10 with the wearing of Red Jackets or other red apparel by residents of Escanaba. This will continue through the period of the Jamboree.

A brochure promoting the Jamboree has been prepared and will be distributed through tourist and hunting information points before the season opens.

Features of the Red Jacket Jamboree are designed to appeal to the local hunters as well as the visitors.

Tips on where to find the best hunting country, how to get your buck, and the importance of gun safety; a dance for hunters before season opens, and a street square dance later in the season; a pancake feed and other entertainment is scheduled.

Outstanding in interest to the hunters after the season opens will be a Big Buck and Big Bear Derby, in which the lucky hunters will receive awards for top place in the Derby list. Registration and weigh-in stations will be established in the city.

The Michigan Department of Conservation is cooperating in some of the program features.

Porath of Milwaukee in the 1500 block of Ludington street, at 7:20 p. m., Friday.

LaBranche Youth Is Held On Drunk Driving Charge

Richard J. Tousignant, 19, of LaBranche, was injured at 9:40 p. m., Friday in an auto accident on U. S. 2-41 near the E&LS railroad overpass west of the Escanaba river.

Tousignant was treated at St. Francis hospital for a cut on his right ankle and right arm and then taken to county jail, where he was booked on a charge of drunk driving. He was to be arraigned in Gladstone today.

The LaBranche youth was driving toward Escanaba and hit the abutment on the right side and swung across, climbing a 20-foot embankment. The car then rolled back down and caught fire, Michigan State Police report.

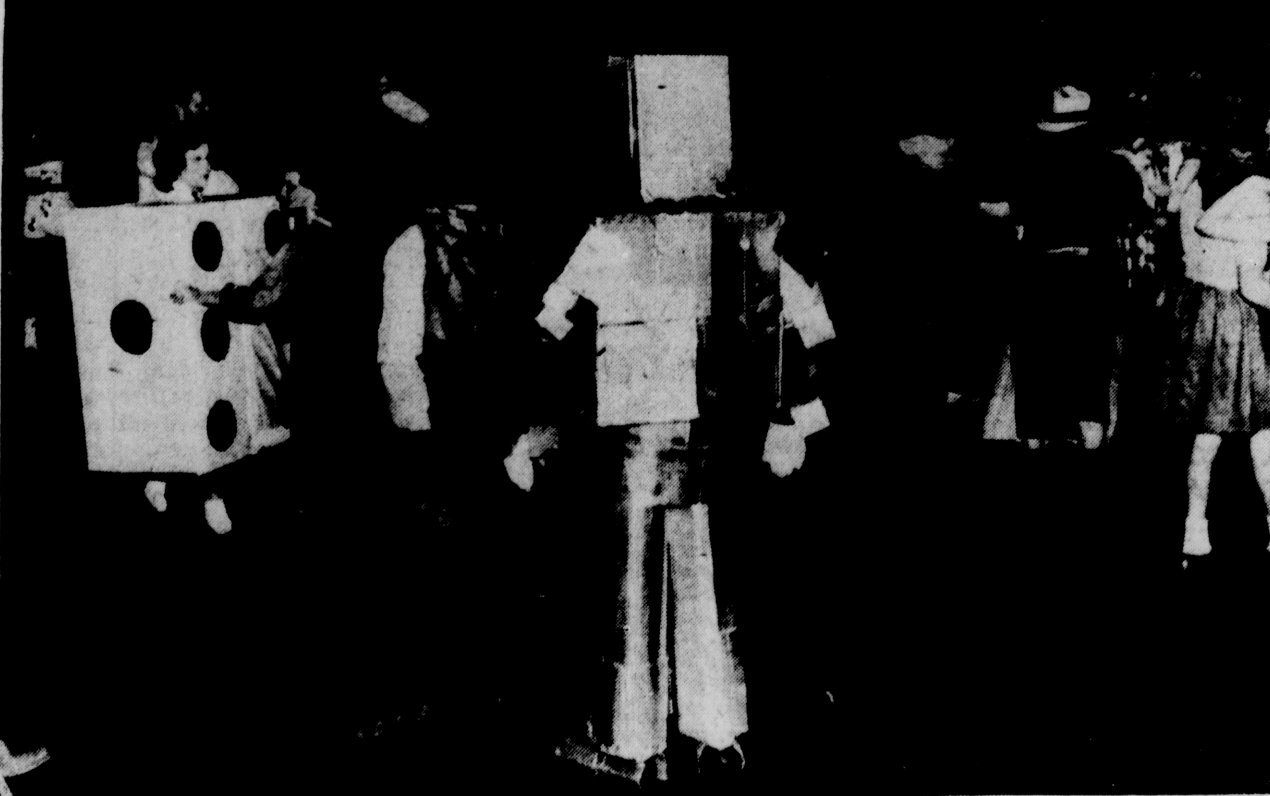

Two officers were required to put Tousignant in an ambulance.

Chest Drive Continues Until Goal Is Reached, County Leader Asserts

The Delta County Community Chest will continue next week and after the presidential election until the goal of $20,000 in the county—$12,500 in Escanaba, $4,500 in Gladstone and $3,000 in the townships—has been reached.

This statement was made in the Chest headquarters, 1515 Ludington street, yesterday afternoon after a tabulation revealed that "It is the desire of the Council that every wage earner in the city, and throughout the county for that matter, be given an opportunity to make a contribution. Many people sincerely regret not being solicited. We don't want anyone to say that they didn't have a chance to contribute, so we are planning to hold a windup porchlight campaign."

The county chairman explained that all residents who have not yet made a contribution will be asked to leave their porchlights on during certain hours in the evening and solicitors in automobiles will tour the city streets and make stops to collect Chest donations.

Many women participating in the Community Chest booth work at the three Escanaba banks have expressed the desire for a residential canvass. "I'd much rather be making calls than sitting here," one woman said, "although the bank officials have been very cooperative and the bank booths have given many persons an opportunity to contribute."

The Lay Health committee, of which Mrs. C. L. Riegel is chairman, has been in charge of Community Chest work at all Escanaba banks.

Women who have helped out are the Mesdames Leonard Winling, Michael Farrell, Clarence Kasten, John Lemmer, Floyd Anuta, Merritt Kasson, P. C. Beuhamp, Barnett Mills, Carl Rehngquist, A. W. Erickson, Cecil LaCombe, Jon Thorin, George Grenholm, John Anthony, Albert Ellsworth, Melvin Trams, Walter Dickson, Paul St. Amant, C. L. Riegel, Victor Powers and James Lowell.

When all reports are in, and chances are they will not be until after the election, we expect that the goal of $20,000 will be reached. Without a doubt, we have been slowed down this year because of this all-important presidential election, but we are optimistic about reaching our goal."

Because many persons have expressed a desire for some sort of a house-to-house canvass to complete a citywide solicitation next week, plans are underway to conduct a porchlight campaign at a future date.

Fred Bernhardt, Delta county 4-H agent, was last week elected secretary-treasurer of the Michigan Association of 4-H Agents at the group's annual conference in East Lansing.

Farmers Expect Good Spud Sale

Michigan and Delta county potato growers can expect to get favorable prices for their 1952 spud crop on the basis of the current high consumer demand, present potato prices and the size of the fall crop, according to an article in Michigan Farm Economics magazine.

As a result of the increase in the potato crop this year, prospects are somewhat lower than for 1951 but are nevertheless favorable in comparison with the long time average, the magazine shows.

Little Price Advance

(The 1952 U. S. crop is estimated at 346 million bushels or about 20 million bushels above the 1951 yield.)

Growers are told that much less seasonal advance in prices can be expected than occurred last year.

"We (growers) are well into the harvest season with potato prices about $1.00 per bushel above last year, (about equal to the February 1952 price); consequently the storage of the 1952 crop of potatoes is not likely to be profitable," the farmers were advised.

It is expected by county farm agent J. L. Heirman that potatoes will not be abnormally high on the consumer market this fall and winter, as was the case in the late winter and early spring of this year.

Increased Planting in 1953

The high prices occurring in 1952 and the expected prices in the spring of 1953, the article anticipates, will stimulate an increase in plantings for 1953.

"This will mean a higher potato production and lower prices. However, it is expected that although 1953 will not be a highly profitable year for potato growers, an efficient grower who obtains high yields at low cost should plant his usual acreage, the article concludes.

Truck Driver Hurt In Accident Friday

John J. Heineck, 52, of Stephenson, suffered a fractured collar bone Friday when a milk truck he was driving collided with a car on U. S. 2-41 in Harris township.

Heineck, who hit a car driven by Robert W. Ruchhoft, 38, Green Bay salesman, was ticketed by Michigan State Police for excessive speed and failure to stop within the assured clear distance.

Ruchhoft was attempting to pass the milk truck when Heineck started to make a left turn. The accident occurred at 11:45 a. m., Friday.

Heineck was treated at Pinecrest Sanatorium in Powers.

Election Evidence Is In; Jury Of Voters Will Ballot Nov. 4

THE election campaign is drawing to a close. Most of the facts in the case have been presented to the American people by the two parties and their candidates. The voters, sitting as judge and jury, will on Tuesday give their verdict.

Don't Be Fooled By Propaganda Of CIO

RURAL mail boxes in Northern Michigan are being flooded with CIO propaganda cards designed to confuse the people into voting against Proposal No. 3.

Disagreement on the issues has been a part of the strategy of the campaigners. To some, the war in Korea is an issue, to others it is not. That corruption in government has been denied as either serious or an issue is also before the people.

The voters come from both parties, they represent the minorities and the majorities, they vote as citizens for that which they deem best for themselves and for their nation. It is a representative form of government that demands good citizenship to obtain good government.

The political division is healthy and necessary. There must be a majority party and a minority party. Both have responsibilities in the future — no matter which side wins.

THE WRITTEN WORD

Despite radio, despite television, despite movies and comics and tabloids and pictorial magazines, the written word still remains the source of humanity's greatest inspiration and wisdom. Yet repeatedly it is said that American school children today are not being taught how to read properly.

Responsible educators are convinced that reading is being taught more effectively now than ever before. From primary school to college level, techniques have been devised to speed the eye and increase the comprehension of young readers.

Some of the most vocal critics of American schools today express a concern that "newfangled" methods, including audio-visual aids, are crowding out the three R's. In some cases it may be true that primary schools occupy too little space in school curricula.

If some of those who most vigorously attack the American public school today would turn their attack to these basic problems of overcrowding and undermanning they would serve a more useful purpose. Teachers as a class, when given the understanding support and reasonable facilities they require, can be trusted above any other group in society to have the reading ability of young Americans at heart.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One thing worrying the GOP high command is that while capturing the White House they might lose the Senate. This is because only one-third of the Senate is up for election, and it happens that this year Republican senators are chiefly affected, many in marginal states.

To win control of the Senate, the Republicans must pick up two new seats. Instead they are likely to lose six states, and pick up three—a net loss of three senators.

Here is the box-score on the key races for the Senate:

New York—Sen. Irving Ives, Republican, frequent bolter to the GOP-Democratic liberals, will be re-elected.

Connecticut—with two Democratic seats at stake in Connecticut, the Republicans are likely to pick up at least one. Chief issue in Connecticut is "McCarthyism."

Maryland—Congressman Glenn Beall, Republican, is likely to defeat Democrat George Mahoney.

Michigan—Sen. Blair Moody, Democrat, is fighting an uphill race against Congressman Charles Potter, a legless veteran. Potter voted against everything Eisenhower was working for—defense funds, mutual security aid to Europe; while Moody championed the principles of the late Senator Vandenberg. Nevertheless, sympathy for a legless veteran, plus the powerful support of both Ford and General Motors, is likely to defeat him.

Washington—Congressman "Scoop" Jackson, Democrat, is a probable winner over Senator Cain, the Republican who played footsie with the real-estate lobby and the isolationist bloc.

Montana—Congressman Mike Mansfield is the favorite to defeat another isolationist Republican who was swept in with the 1946 landslide—Zales Ecton.

Indiana—Sen. William Jenner, one of the most controversial senators in the campaign due to his attacks on General Marshall and Ike's subsequent endorsement, seems certain to lose to popular, middle-of-the-road Gov. Henry Schricker.

Missouri—another GOP senator of the class of 1946, James Kem, is due to be mowed down by Stuart Symington, who cleaned up the RFC.

Nevada—Tom Mechling, the young newsman who defeated Senator McCarran's law partner in the Democratic primary, now faces the open and bitter opposition of the most powerful man in Nevada—McCarran himself. This means that the Democratic machine is not actively behind him. However, such sympathy has been aroused for Mechling's lone battle that he may defeat GOP Senator Malone.

Massachusetts—Young Congressman John Kennedy, Democrat with a liberal voting record, is considered likely to defeat Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, despite the powerful support given Lodge by Eisenhower.

New Mexico—Sen. Dennis Chavez, Democrat, has an understanding with Republican leaders whereby the state will probably go for Eisenhower, but simultaneously defeat the ebullient Pat Hurley, now running against Chavez for the Senate.

Wyoming—Joe O'Mahoney, Democrat, a skilled and respected Senate veteran, is in the tough fight with GOP Governor Barrett. The race is close, but O'Mahoney is expected to squeak through.

Utah—Sen. Arthur Watkins, Republican, is in a seesaw battle with Congressman Walter Granger, Democrat. Watkins has become so desperate that he has imported a professional ex-Communist, Harvey Matusow, to attack Granger. Granger, however, has been a solid, hard-working congressman and the attack may boom-erang.

Ohio—Sen. John Bricker, voted No. 96 by Washington newsmen in contrast to Taft's rating of No. 1, is being pushed by Mike di Salle, the former price administrator. Hurting Bricker is the fact that rents are being raised all over Ohio, following his consistent voting with the real-estate lobby to remove rent controls.

Into The Past

Escanaba—The Civilian Defense Corps is preparing for the first test alert to be held here this week. No blackout or traffic interruption is planned in the practice drill.

Gladstone—Mrs. William C. Johnson and William S. Skellenger, Gladstone Golf Club champions, were honored with trophies at the annual banquet and closing dinner.

Manistique—Chief interest in the Schoolcraft county portion of the ballot in the November election on Tuesday centers in the race between Sheriff John M. Hewitt, Republican candidate, and Fred R. Griffen, Democratic nominee for the post and former sheriff.

Gladstone—Clifton M. Drury, secretary of the Upper Peninsula YMCA has announced the 19th annual Old Boys Conference will be held in Escanaba this year. Gladstone expects to send about 25 boys to the conference.

Manistique—Mrs. Frank Jane, Lake St., will be hostess to the Thursday meeting of St. Alban's Guild.

Gladstone—E. J. Noreus, Gladstone banker and member of the Delta County Road Commission, explains that a proposed $60,000 bond issue would provide work for men out of employment and improve hundreds of miles of the county road system.

Little Red Schoolhouse Going Ultra-Modern In New Designs

SCARSDALE, N. Y. —(NEA)—They're going back to the little red schoolhouse in suburban Scarsdale, but you'd never know it from looking at the schoolhouse they plan to build.

The new elementary school will have two extra walls to every classroom and wings shaped like pinwheels. Even the designer isn't sure what it will look like.

In model form, the building seems to wander off in a number of different directions, and your eye has to jump to keep up with it. On a 20-acre site, it will have plenty of room to ramble.

The architects say it replaces "imposing pile" with "comfortable sprawl."

The center part of the $1,114,000 structure is almost conventional—a cross between the modern ranch home and factory building. But the wings are definite eye-teasers. They're shaped like X's and connected with the main building by thin, covered corridors. This gives them, from above, the pinwheel appearance.

The main building houses the "facilities"—such things as the boiler room, library and teachers' lounge. The odd-shaped wings are the classrooms.

How such a large rambling structure could ever be a throwback to the old little red schoolhouse is explained by Perkins and Will, nationally known school architects who designed it.

"Really," they say, "this isn't one big schoolhouse at all; it's a group of small ones. Educators say a small school has many advantages. So we're building three small schools and a kindergarten, placing them in a triangle, putting all their common facilities in the center and joining everything together with corridors."

Actual designer Al Hoover

PIN-WHEEL SHAPED WINGS of new school, seen here in model form, will house classrooms. Earth-colored walls plus natural landscaping will make the school almost invisible from street.

elaborates. "We wanted to avoid the 'institutional' feeling," he says. "or the thought that school is merely a long row of cells on each side of a corridor. So we've spread everything out and separated the classrooms so each age group has its own 'school' and play area."

The classrooms themselves are sharp innovations. Each has six walls.

"A lot of people will think that's a queer shape," concedes Hoover, "but only because they're not used to it. A hexagon is actually more efficient than a four-walled room because it offers more space. Even the bees know that; they use it to store their honey."

The rooms have large windows on four of their six sides. This allows an abundance of natural daylight, reducing both eye-strain and electric bills. The entire school is laid out so a child can step outdoors from any part, quickly and safely. And pupils in each room can look through any window without having their view blocked by the walls of adjacent buildings.

Everything is sealed to the height of the student. Ceilings have been lowered, so have seats and doorknobs. There's only one floor so none of the 350 pupils will have to climb stairs. And the auditorium is built around a semi-circular stage so a young performer will never be more than 50 feet from the farthest member of his audience.

Other features include a large office suite, a manual training shop, meeting room and gymnasium, and a landscaped interior court. The court is built right into the building next to the auditorium and meeting room. It can be used for nature classes, PTA functions, or a storage space for pets during school hours.

Despite its unusual patterns, the school has won eager approval from Scarsdale residents. Perkins and Will attribute this to the leadership of a progressive Board of Education and School Superintendent Archibald B. Shaw, who didn't feel tied to tradition.

The architects feel the school, which will be completed in September, 1953, will be a widely-copied model. They see it as especially well suited for communities with leap-frogging population problems.

"You could start off," says partner Lawrence B. Perkins, "by building one wing, then add the others as you need them—a sort of school building scheme on the installment plan."

We need an All-American team to throw out the Truman Democrats who put the Reds in Washington—Sen. Richard Nixon (R., Calif.).

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

MEETING THE CHALLENGE — This might be about the election—but it isn't. In fact the election is so near that we have decided to abandon it as a topic of conversation. At least in this column.

The challenge concerns the predicament of an Escanaba housewife who had just placed some ham on the stove to cook when the electric power went off. The ham, although precooked, at least needed a little warming if her man was to have his lunch.

She was staring disconsolately at the electric stove when her husband came home.

"Why don't you just open a can of soup?" he asked when apprised of the situation.

While his wife busied herself with can and can opener he stood grinning cynically. And when she brought the pan of soup to the stove he laughed aloud when a look of bewilderment crossed her face.

"But how," she asked, "am I going to heat the soup?"

That, said her husband, placidly spreading peanut butter on his bread, was her problem.

CURTAINMENT IN SIGHT — To be without electric power for even a short time is not amusing—but there is the possibility that unless the power problem of the Delta county area is successfully met we will have to do some curtailing on use of electricity.

Don't look for anything serious within the immediate future, but be prepared to hear that curtailing will be required to keep the load within the limits of the present supply.

This may make for a little less brighter Christmas season around the town, but it will not mean that you will not have electricity to cook your Christmas turkey. You will have plenty of electricity for the essentials—but the non-essentials may have to be reduced.

DID HIM A FAVOR — It isn't often that a motorist who is ticketed and is sentenced in court to pay a fine feels that anyone has done him a favor. When that happens, it's news.

Therefore the following letter received by Justice A. T. Sahlberg of Gladstone is news indeed:

"Dear Mr. Sahlberg: You will find enclosed $10 to pay the charges made against me.

I feel that it might have been a good thing to get stopped. I might have had an accident. I am sure it will be a lesson to me.

Yours truly, Alvin B. Ballard Harbor Springs, Mich."

Mr. Ballard, whose attitude toward the traffic law is so refreshing, had been picked up for driving an auto with defective equipment. His response indicates that others caught by the traffic officer also might take the experience as a valuable lesson.

OPPOSITE VIEW—While we were at the Escanaba Police station a few days ago we overheard the opposite reaction from a motorist caught and ticketed.

He stormed around the place, giving the officers a tongue-lashing and jawing about the faults of the other drivers he had encountered on the highway.

This went on for a considerable period of time, with the officers reacting courteously. They did not argue. They just listened. The man tired of berating them and left. No one in the station said anything for a few minutes, then one of the officers spoke up.

"Gee," he said, "it sure is quiet in here!"

POLITE SPOOKS—The trick or treat crowd was out in force last night—the night before Halloween—and the family was kept busy answering the door.

One man, whose family had gone out, had to face the "trick 'r treat" crowd alone. Becoming exasperated and running out of candy and pennies, he donned a hideous old Halloween mask and "boomed" the children.

The kids found this so fascinating that he was busier than before and finally removed the mask, turned out the lights and went for a walk. Moral: On Halloween as at Christmas it is better to give than to receive.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

Everyone knows that the marvelous little yellow songbird, the canary, got its name from the Canary Islands where it was originally native. But did you know that this little group of islands itself, lying off the northwest coast of Africa, owed its own name to the large dogs that once roamed over it?

No one knows how or when the dogs got there. Lying to the west of the Pillars of Hercules, their mountain peaks barely visible from the African coast on clear days, the islands are supposed to be the same ones which, in Greek myths, were called the Fortunate Islands or Isles of the Blessed. Here the climate was always ideal and food was plentiful, and the land was thought to be the dwelling place of the mortals who had been saved from death by the gods.

But the earliest historical account of the exploration of the islands is placed in the year 40 B. C. The chief of Mauritania, Juba by name, determined to satisfy his curiosity and to see just what the land was which lay some sixty miles off his coast. He found the islands to consist of an exceedingly mountainous group; one had its peaks, eleven thousand feet high, covered with snow. To this island, therefore, he gave the Latin name Nivaria, the Snowy Island.

The most impressive feature of the largest island of the group, however, was the number of large dogs that lived on it. To this one, therefore, he gave the Latin name Canarius, or Isle of Dogs, a name that later was given to the entire group, becoming Canary in our tongue.

Horses who win by a nose give you a mighty good tip; keep your head up!

'Helps'

In the list of those whom Saint Paul said God had set for authority and activity in the church, the list contained in I Corinthians 12:28, some are described as "helps," translated "helpers" in the recently published version of the Bible to which much reference has been made in newspaper and magazine articles.

I mean "The Revised Standard Version" sponsored by national Protestant Churches the translation and revision being the work of a large committee of Biblical scholars under the chairmanship of Dr. Luther Weigle, former dean of the Divinity School in Yale University.

It is interesting to note that at about the same time a new translation of the Bible under Roman Catholic auspices has also appeared. I have not yet seen this Catholic version, but I have just been consulting an "authorized New Translation," published under Roman Catholic authority in 1941. This vital and excellent version is in the form of "Daily Reading from the New Testament" arranged by Father Stedman.

But to return to this matter of "helps," which in Father Stedman's arrangement is translated "services of help." I am not a scholar, but this is one instance in which, perhaps without any scholarly warrant, I prefer the simple King James' Version of one-word "helps."

Whether or not it was justified by the original Greek, there would seem to have been in the minds of those translators in the Shakespearean age some reason for singling out those designated by that one word "helps."

All good Christians ought to be "helpers" and ought to render "services of help" wherever needed. But what special vision of human need, the ability to help it, and activity in actual helping, made some in the church, "set by God," so distinctive that in a list of apostles, teachers, healers, miracle workers, and administrators, they should have their significant and particular designation as "helps."

I have wondered who these "helps" were, and just what offices they performed. The need of helpfulness in the whole range of human life, in the individual, in the home and family, in the church, and in society is so great, and so varied, that one can conjure up all manner of activities on the part of those who have the ability and the purpose to be helpful.

To be a "help" it is obvious that one must himself have found help and be strong in himself. I judge that these "helps" in the ancient church were some who had no particular concern about doctrine or administration but who had found a keen and close relation to the Christ, who came not to be ministered unto but to administer. They were close followers of a Master, who was Himself the Great Helper.

New Catholic Bible Already In Demand

By SHERRY BOWEN

NEW YORK (AP)—American Catholic scholars now have copies of the first volume of the new English translation of the Catholic Bible—the first of four volumes of the Old Testament.

Only a few are available so far for general distribution, but sponsors of the project hope to print more before Christmas. The first edition was kept small so that if correction were necessary they could be made before many were printed.

Complete By 1955

Clamor for the book has been growing. Catholics, judging from that and the fact that the new Protestant translation has sold a million copies, expect the demand to be large.

The Rev. Louis F. Hartman, who edits and co-ordinates the work of some 35 scholars in the new Old Testament translation, sees the work as part of recognition by the church at the great increase in literacy among laymen.

"It is wrong to say the church ever forbade reading of the Bible," he says. He explains that some churchmen in the past, faced with illiterate or semilliterate congregations, discouraged their attempts to deal with material they could not understand and frowned on attempts to translate the Bible.

The other three volumes of the Old Testament will appear about one each year. Hartman expects to have a complete Bible by 1955, including the New Testament.

The Catholic Bible will be similar in many respects to the Revised Standard Version of the Protestants, Hartman says.

"After all, the Old Testament comes from the same Hebrew and the New Testament from the same Greek," he says.

Old Errors Erased

The Catholic translation is more modern in some respects than the Protestant. All use of "thee" and "thou" is abandoned. The Protestants keep the words when God is addressed.

There is also more use of footnotes. As Hartman puts it, the Bible is the word of God, but some very human men have had a part in preserving it. For hundreds of years it was copied by hand. Copyists made errors.

Hebrew scholars in the ninth and 10th centuries standardized the text and did a very good job. But, as a result of cumulative errors, some passages just do not make sense.

To meet this difficulty, modern scholars go back to translations into Greek, Syriac and other languages from earlier Hebrew texts. Sound translations can be reached in most cases. In a few instances the Catholics leave out nonsense passages and indicate the omissions with dots.

Tune With Clapping Banned In Factories

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation has ordered disc jockeys on its "Music While You Work" program for factory employees to stop playing a top hit tune—"Sugarbush."

Said the BBC: "Sugarbush features intricate handclapping as a part of its rhythm and some machine shop workers reportedly have been hitting machinery with their tools in time with the handclaps."

"There have been some disastrous results," the BBC admitted ruefully.

Son Killed In Korea; Business Man Sues

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A suit to recover $5,000 insurance for the death in Korea of his son, Stanley, has been filed by Jack Weissman, a businessman, against the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

The policy specifies that no payment is to be made if the insured is killed in the military service of any country at war, but Weissman contends the United States is not at war with the North Koreans and that Congress alone can proclaim a state of war.

Hydraulic Jack Frees Tread Boy

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A woman called police when she heard Gerald Grande Jr. screaming from his 12-foot-high perch in a nearby tree. When the emergency squad arrived they found Gerald's right knee securely wedged into a crotch of the tree.

After pulling and tugging efforts had failed the youngster was freed when a small hydraulic jack finally forced the branches apart.

THIS IS WHAT DEMOCRATIC LEADERS SAID ABOUT EISENHOWER: GOV. ADLAI STEVENSON

"I do not see how General Eisenhower's nomination could be anything other than reassuring in foreign quarters, at least in the key area of Western Europe. The General's patently genuine devotion to the principle of building up the strength of Western Europe to resist aggression and his services in the pursuit of that objective have won him the good will of everybody in Europe except perhaps the Communists." (U. S. News and World Report, April 25th, 1952 p. 51).

SEN. JOHN SPARKMAN

In a radio address from Washington, D. C., July 4, 1948. Sparkman said: "We believe that you, General Eisenhower, more than any other American, are especially equipped to give us the leadership this nation and these times demand." (N. Y. Herald Tribune, July 5, 1948).

PRESIDENT TRUMAN

"General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the presidency in 1948." (CRUSADE IN EUROPE, Garden City, Doubleday & Co., 1948, Pp. 143-144.) "Asked at his press conference on August 9, 1951, whether this statement applied in 1952 as well as 1948, Mr. Truman said it certainly did. He said he was just as fond of General Eisenhower as he could be." (W. H. Lawrence, New York Times, Aug. 10th, 1951).

On November 8, 1951, Arthur Krock, chief of the New York Times Washington Bureau, wrote the following in a front page news story: "During the visit of General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower to Washington this week, President Truman offered to support him as a presidential candidate in 1952, repeating a similar offer with respect to 1948, that he had made to the General at the Potsdam conference in 1945. General Eisenhower did not accept the new offer, which necessarily concerned only the Democratic nomination." (N. Y. Times, November 8th, 1951, Arthur Krock):

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, JR.

Asked if he thought President Truman, if nominated could be elected, Roosevelt replied: "I will answer that question this way. I feel that the great need of the country is to be unified by a great and proved leader. General Eisenhower will furnish that leadership which all Americans so desperately seek."

JAMES ROOSEVELT

"It is up to the Democratic party to enable the people of this country to have the opportunity of voting for Dwight Eisenhower as national candidate unfettered in these days of international crisis by the normal traffic of partisan politics." (U. P. N. Y. Times, July 6, 1948).

SEN. HUBERT H. HUMPHREY

Speaking before the Woman's National Democratic Club in Washington, D. C., Senator Humphrey said: "Eisenhower's inspired leadership of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization will go down in history as one of the great achievements of our time. We should not complain that he is a member of the opposition party. Instead we should thank God that we have got him." (Minneapolis Star, March 28th, 1952).

On the occasion of Eisenhower's speech outlining European Anti-Communist Defenses Humphrey said: "Thank God we have General Eisenhower. His speech proved that he is not only a great General but also a great humanitarian." (Minneapolis Star, Feb. 1, 1952).

This is the SAME MAN President Truman now calls a fraud, Anti-Semetic, Anti-Catholic...and has attempted to put the Nazi and Communist brand on him!

Red Compromise On Korea Hinted

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Poland speaks for the Soviet bloc in the bitter U. N. debate over Korea today with delegates watching closely for possible hints of a Communist compromise on the deadlocked prisoners of war issue.

The Polish delegation added its name to the list of speakers at today's meeting of the General Assembly's Political Committee. The Poles will follow China, New Zealand and Sweden.

Poland thus becomes the first Communist nation to enter the debate since Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky attacked the West Monday and proposed formation of a new international commission to supervise a peaceful settlement and unification of Korea.

The Poles are believed certain to come out for Vishinsky's proposed commission, which would leave the door open for Russia to take part in Korean peace negotiations.

Some delegations also hoped they might come up with a suggestion that the Communists were ready to drop their demand that all prisoners of war be returned to their Red-ruled homelands whether they want to or not—the only issue holding up a Korean peace.

Angry Prisoners Burn 8 Buildings In Ohio Uprising

tional Guardsmen, rounded up from Central and Southern Ohio, mobilized before the sudden collapse of the revolt.

Aid Comes Quickly
A scheduled 10:30 p.m. offensive by the National Guard became unnecessary. Cold, hungry, beaten, most of the rebellious convicts moved back into the cell blocks minutes before the guard planned to march into the penitentiary.

Aid for the beleaguered guards at the penitentiary came more quickly than at many places, perhaps because many in Columbus still remember Easter Monday of 1930.

That was the day convicts fired a cell block in a wild escape plot. The fire caused the deaths of 322 prisoners, the biggest toll of any prison fire.

The breakup of the rebellion was held up an hour by the flashing knives of a dozen case-hardened convicts, who bulldozed 600 fellow prisoners into keeping up their defiance.

Begin in Mess Hall

Possibly 100 die-hards lingered in the courtyard after the mutiny had fallen apart, eventually forcing guards to bomb them out with tear gas.

The outbreak, primed by a series of other uprisings in prisons across the nation, began in the mess hall at dinner time. Like a flash fire, the mutiny spread until it involved nearly one-half the prison's 4,000-odd population.

The first act of the Halloween drama was brief. Eight hundred of the original 2,000 convicts quickly agreed to return to their cells. That left 1,200. Guards thought the back of the rebellion, staged to protest food the convicts called "slop" or worse, had been broken. Just as quickly, the second act started—an uncontrolled riot by 1,200 convicts in the face of a total guard force of 35. Fire after fire broke out.

Damage Runs High

At one time, about three hours after the riot started, Warden Ralph W. Alvis said, "Nearly every major building is burning out of control."

Firemen, balked by the mass of convicts and the slowness of the guard force, tried ineffectually to fight the sprouting flames from roof tops and wall ladders.

Fire destroyed five buildings—the commissary, the Catholic chapel, the laundry, the personnel building, the prison hospital.

Fire and vandalism seriously damaged the auditorium, the mess hall, and the kitchen.

The convicts, including some of the hardest characters in the Midwest, armed themselves with meat cleavers, sharpened spoons, files, knives, anything that would maim or kill.

They smashed windows, jeered at the guards and screamed curses.

Huddle Near Bonfires

Two hours before the end, four hundred more convicts lost their nerve and sneaked back through the burning buildings to their cell blocks. Then another 200 gave up. That left 600 still roaming around and huddling around small bonfires.

These were the men threatened to the last by the knife-wielding fanatics, who finally succumbed to the pressure of 250 peace officers and prison guards.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche flew to Columbus from Cleveland to take charge of the offensive against the convicts.

Warden Alvis—the "Big Red"—that several convicts shouted was "the best warden in the world"—pleaded by loudspeaker with the convicts three times. It was shortly after his last appeal that the virtual end to the mutiny came.

Heavy Taxes Fail To Stop Gambling

all were always part of a gambler's traditional overhead. But not taxes.

Lohn said after the initial large-scale dive underground, and suspension of activity, many gamblers resumed operations, mainly underground.

Definitely, he said, the law has not stopped gambling, or cut it down to a small scale.

Congress never said it intended to knock out the gambling business. But the inference was plain between the lines of the law.

The law provided that gamblers step up to Internal Revenue offices, state their business, place of business, income and outgo, and buy a gaming stamp. The names of persons who bought gaming stamps were to be posted. Local officials interested in wiping out gambling had only to look at the list and go after the quarry.

Easy To Find

The government collected in the first 11 months a total of $8,190,438 from gamblers, Lohn said.

Of this, $1,082,259 was from sale of gambling stamps. The rest, $7,108,179 was from the 10 per cent excise tax.

Some 32,500 gambling stamps were sold at the rate of about $4.16 per remaining month of the fiscal year.

There is a popular belief that along Broadway, and, in fact, anywhere in the vicinity of New York City, gamblers are so thick a wink will get you a chance on anything you like. But only 38 stamps were sold during the first eight months of the law in all New York City, and only 260 stamps in New York State.

The most stamps were sold in the Northwest—38 per cent of all sales were in Montana, Utah and Washington. Gamblers in the state of Washington alone bought 3,576 stamps, the biggest number for any state.

Illinois ranked second, with 3,129 stamps.

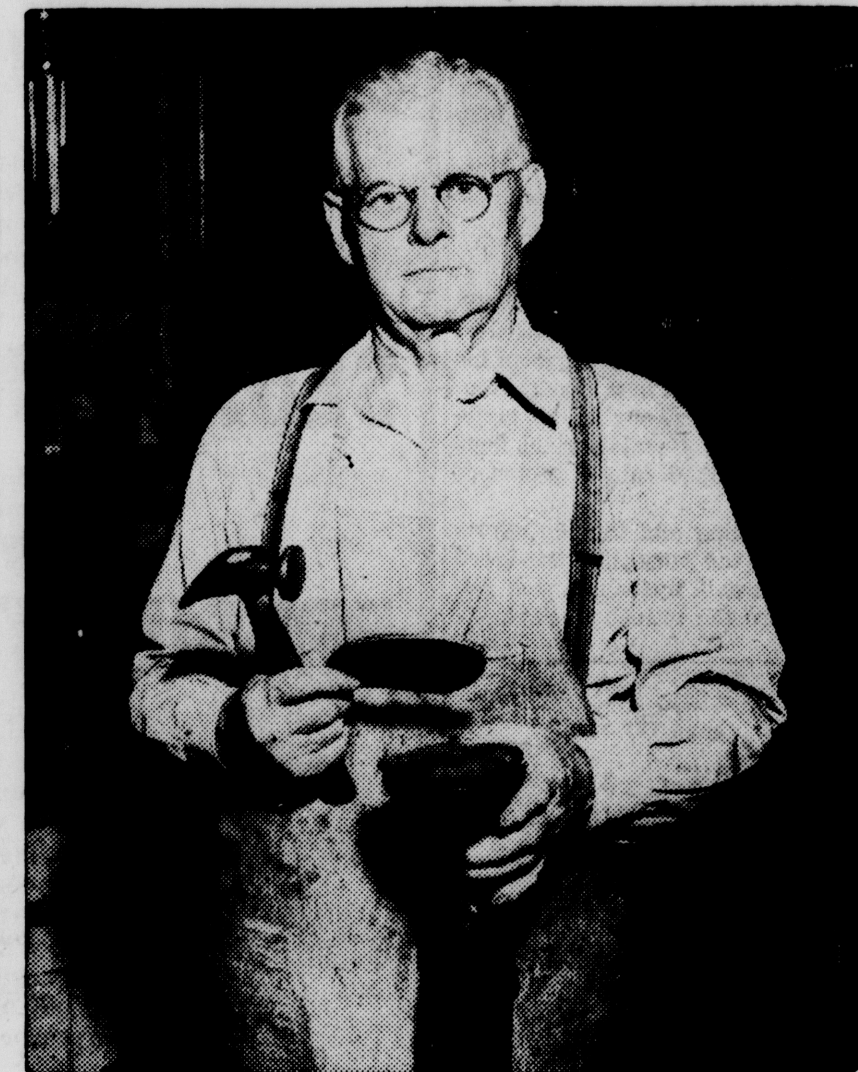

Montana came next, with 1,994 stamps, and Louisiana was fourth, with 1,265. Utah was fifth, with 1,085.

The next five were: Indiana, 983; Ohio, 885; Pennsylvania, 691; Idaho, 597, and Texas, 501.

Today's Shoes Have More Style But Less Leather, Says Veteran Shoemaker

SHOEMAKER RETIRES—Joe DeLisle of Escanaba, Delta County's only shoemaker, who has retired after 64 years of shoemaking.

Do you know how many pieces of leather make a pair of shoes?

If you think three, four or ten, you're way off. Joseph A. DeLisle, a shoemaker here for 64 years, says it takes about 60.

An actual count of the pieces that go into a shoe would show five pieces to build up a heel, two for each tongue, one for each eyelet, two for the vamp and the toe cap, about five for a strong counter, etc.

Here 70 Years

The veteran Escanaba shoemaker, who is 76, recently closed his shop, at 815 Second avenue south, after making and repairing shoes there for more than 60 years. Before that his father, Ismael DeLisle, operated the shoe shop.

Joe DeLisle learned the craft from his father, who was sent from his home on the island of Orleans in Quebec to a Canadian shoe factory to learn the trade. Joe's father was in training for five years, at $1 per month wages. When he finished, after going up the ladder in the shoemaking factory, he was considered an expert.

Cruiser's Boots

Joe came to Escanaba with his father 70 years ago and has been here since. He's made shoes and boots of all kinds, and even now wears shoes he made.

Among his specialties was making orthopedic shoes, for crippled persons, including those with extension soles and Mayo arches.

He also made boots for lumberjacks, particularly in the early years when he operated the shop. All lumberjack boots had to be waterproof, and some needed special spikes on the bottom, for river drives.

Taught Two Sons

DeLisle, in perusing his record book this week, found that among those for whom he had made cruiser boots were Carl Sawyer and H. O. Brotherton. The shoes then cost $6 or $7, but now would be priced at about $20.

If you don't know the genial shoemaker, a word of caution might be wise here. He is not a "cobbler." Webster's dictionary, he will point out, says a cobbler is a "mender of shoes, a coarse workman, or a botcher." Joe's a shoemaker, and it is not the same as a shoe repairman.

Two of DeLisle's sons, Earl of Munising and Clarence of Gladstone learned shoe repairing from their father, and now operate shops of their own. Another son, Roy, works at the Veneer mill in Munising, and his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Snyder, lives with him at 815 Second avenue south.

Children At Shop

DeLisle, says there "never was a lot of money" in shoemaking. "I've made a living but am still working on my first million," he jests.

An expert shoemaker has to know how to measure feet, design a shoe style and then cut a pattern for that style and size. DeLisle explains, "The 'skin' is cut only when the shoemaker is certain he has the pattern right, for leather costs about $2 per square foot. Once it is cut, it has little value for other uses."

The Escanaba shoemaker, who enjoys recalling visits school children made to his shop to learn of different types of leather and to see how shoes are made, says leather cost 40 cents a pound when he started in the shop. It now sells for $1.25 per pound.

More Style

DeLisle used two sole sewing machines, worth $600 apiece, a finishing machine and various other pieces of equipment in making shoes here. He says it would cost about $4,000 to replace the equipment.

He recalls that one Christmas Eve, he and three other men worked until "St. Ann church bells were ringing" for midnight mass before completing work that had to be done before Christmas.

There is more style in shoes now, DeLisle notes. "New ideas, that's it," he explains, pointing out how shoes now are made with rubber foam soles, "half rubber and half leather," and some with no leather at all. The style with satin top and oiled sole amuse the veteran shoemaker, who can remember when it was thought impossible to make a shoe without leather.

Only Shoemaker Here

DeLisle, who has lived on the shores of Bay de Noc since he was six, is fond of sailing, and at one time made a 24-foot, two-mast sailing sloop and a canoe. His uncle, Cyril Roberge of Escanaba, was a boat builder, and from him Shoemaker DeLisle learned how it was done. His father also helped, by showing him how to fit boards for the prow.

He used the boats for "sailing all over Big Bay and along Garth Shores" for 10 years. DeLisle also had a 30-foot sloop which he sailed a long time. The canoe he made was for getting ashore, and for duck hunting.

One year, in the early 1900's he sailed with the late Capt. J. R. Francois of Kipling on a two-mast sailboat with a 72-foot keel. They hauled shingles, ties and beechwood to a Marinette mill.

Now that he is retired, Delta County is without a shoemaker, for he was the only one left. DeLisle plans to visit friends in various parts of the country, as soon as his doctor "okays" the trips.

Stevenson Sticks To Midwest For Campaign Windup

but nobody indicated what he should do when he got there," the governor said.

Actually, he said, these are the only courses open in Korea: "Get out, or enlarge the war, or purchase a truce to the abandonment of our moral position, or continue the negotiations with all of the resource and self-discipline at our command."

In Chicago Tonight

He said Eisenhower himself had now begun to talk about going to Korea to "improve our position" instead of ending the war.

This is admirable, he said, "but the label on the bottle is different and the contents are mis-branded."

His address, telecast nationally, was delivered in the Brooklyn Academy of Music at a rally that has become the traditional Democratic Friday - before - election sounding board.

Officials of the building estimated the crowd at about 4,000 persons.

It was the windup of Stevenson's efforts in the East before heading back into Ohio and Indiana today with a major television address in Chicago tonight.

Sales Tax Gains

LANSING (AP)—Sales tax collections in October on September retail business rose four per cent over the same period a year ago, the State Revenue Department reported today. Collections were $21,651,000, compared to $20,834,000 for the same month last year.

that is growing among his advisers now. They have noted reports from professional pollsters that indicate Stevenson may be gaining ground in this stretch phase of the race. If the governor's stock is rising, they say, the upsurge is coming too late.

Big States Wanted

Eisenhower's top strategists believe they have a better-than-even chance to carry the two big doubtful states, New York and California. The third biggest, Pennsylvania, is considered in the bag. Together these three would mean 109 electoral votes. It takes 266 to win the presidency.

One of Eisenhower's lieutenants said today he has seen nothing to change the feeling that, this year, the Republicans have a chance to break into the solid bloc of Southern states.

Eisenhower's advisers consider Virginia the most likely possibility of a break. They put Florida, South Carolina, Louisiana, and Texas—in that order—as the next most likely in their calculations.

Big Crowd In Loop

As for Illinois, with 27 electoral votes, Eisenhower made the one-day trip in the hope that his appearance would tip the balance in what looks like a close race.

Eisenhower's day in Chicago resembled, in many ways, the experience he encountered during the week in his intensive combing of New York. He made three set appearances and motorcaded through widely separated areas of the city. At the Western Electric plant, some 15,000 people were waiting to see him, and they applauded some of his statements, but with no wild enthusiasm.

Before going into the Loop, the heart of the downtown section, he stopped at the Hines-Vaughan Hospital to talk briefly with war veterans—many from Korea. A scheduled speech was not made.

He simply walked through the wards, shaking hands with men in wheelchairs and lying on cots.

In three or four blocks of the Loop, he got the roaring, confetti-and-serpentine reception that has been accorded him in most of the nation's big cities. Chicago newspapers said the procession was watched by crowds they estimated at from 127,000 to a half million.

Then he went out to the South Side, stopping at the victory monument in the heart of the big Negro residential area. An unknown Negro soldier, lost in the first world war, is buried beneath the monument.

There, he placed a wreath and stood on a rostrum before some 4,000 people, mainly reminiscing.

Is Sonar For A Porpoise?

By CHRIS MACGILL
AP Newsfeatures

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—Porpoises may have been swimming with the aid of sonar long before man ever developed it as a help to navigation.

Sonar is a method of navigating with the aid of sound waves bounced back from surrounding objects. The possibility that porpoises use it is suggested by two scientists of the Florida State University Oceanographic Institute.

Writing in the magazine Science, W. N. Kellogg and Robert Kohler reported on experiments with captive porpoises at Marine Studios at Marineland, Fla., and at Bimini in the Bahamas Islands.

Method Uncertain

They said porpoises either can hear sounds far too high on the scale for human detection or have an as yet unidentified organism which reacts to high frequency vibrations in water.

If their ears are capable of picking up extremely high sounds "it follows as a unique possibility that porpoises may not only hear (high) frequencies but that they may also produce or emit ultrasonic vibrations."

"The inference seems inescapable that the porpoise, like the bat, may orient itself with respect to objects in its environment by echo-location—that is, by the reflection of its own sound waves."

The scientists said porpoises are extremely fast swimmers and often visit murky waters or travel at night when they would be unable to navigate or hunt food by sight.

Just a Theory

The porpoises "may consequently have used sonar long before it was ever thought of by man," Kohler and Kellogg wrote.

They warned, however, that the theory should be regarded at present only as an "interesting speculation, to be investigated in the future."

Though found in the ocean, porpoises are not fish but mammals of the same order as whales. The common variety of porpoises usually doesn't grow longer than five feet.

French Maintain 'Boys Town' In Hanoi

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—There's a "Boys Town" in Indo-China, too. It's right here in Hanoi—headquarters city for the French Union forces warring against the Communist-led Vietminh.

The real name of "Boys Town" is "Cite du Christ Roi"—the City of Christ, the King. It's an institution run by Catholic priests and sisters to help orphaned boys—whether they drift in from territory held by the Vietminh or the French Union forces.

Father Paul Seitz, of the Paris Foreign Missions, is hopeful that "Boys Town" may someday have quarters for 1,000 war orphans. Right now, 450 boys make up its "citizens."

More Doctors Are Needed In U. P.

ANN ARBOR—Wayne L. Whittaker, secretary of the University of Michigan Medical School, will tour the Upper Peninsula of Michigan from Monday (Oct. 13) through Saturday (Oct. 18).

In appearances before high schools, colleges, U-M alumni clubs, luncheon and civic groups, Professor Whittaker will outline opportunities in the medical profession and related fields of nursing, medical technology, physical therapy and others.

His schedule will be as follows: Monday evening, Manistique; Tuesday noon, Escanaba; Wednesday noon, Ironwood; Thursday noon, Houghton; Friday noon, Marquette; and Saturday noon, Sault Ste. Marie.

During his tour, Professor Whittaker will point out that the Upper Peninsula has produced many of the state's outstanding physicians but that only 31 students have entered the Medical School from the area above the Straits of Mackinac during the past four years. Since the U. P. contains 15 counties and more than 300,000 people, he feels that more doctors are needed in the area.

"It is only recently that survey evidence has become conclusive that young men and women who grow up in small communities are more likely to return to practice in their own or similar areas," Professor Whittaker says. "Therefore, we feel the young people of rural communities should know more about medical careers and more encouragement should be given high school students to plan for the profession."

"Even though there are more applicants than places in Medical School," he asserts "we still want more applications from those who are best qualified to practice medicine."

"It is interesting to find that a current survey indicates medical students do not necessarily come from families of professional and higher educational standing," Professor Whittaker states. "Most of the students now in the U-M

Three Polls Put Ike In The Lead

NEW YORK (AP)—Three of the nation's top political poll-takers say that, as of now, it looks as if Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will command a slight lead in the popular vote on election day.

But the pollsters—Dr. George Gallup, Archibald M. Crossley and Elmo Roper—says this prediction must be tempered by the question: How fast is Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson catching up?

The dominant mood of all three poll-takers was: Caution. They were remembering the way the voters upset their 1948 predictions that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey would beat President Truman.

None was willing, yet to predict what the electoral vote will be, although all said their latest findings indicate an Eisenhower popular-vote victory.

However, there has been a recent trend toward Stevenson, they said, and they haven't determined to what extent it will count by Nov. 4.

Crossley said the big headache is the undecided category. He estimated 10 per cent of the voters are in this group.

Student Buys House In National Cemetery

NEW YORK (AP)—A Long Island student will live in a national cemetery for the next two years because he submitted the high bid for rent on a house to the U. S. Army engineers.

The one-family frame house and two sheds is located on farmland purchased by the Army as an addition to the Long Island National Cemetery. It is estimated the graves will not reach Vincent J. Griesel's front yard until his two years are up. He is a student at the Long Island Agricultural Technological Institute.

THE AMERICAN WAY

As the people of America draw nearer to the day of decision on November 4th, they are called upon to weigh carefully the merits of the different parties and candidates and choose those leaders.

1. who consider the well being of the individual and nation in all things, above any personal political gains.
2. who consider the continued growth based upon individual initiative as the only course in the future progress of the country.
3. who will chart the destiny of the country with integrity and honor.
4. who initiate policies that will end the wars and bring the nation nearer to peace and a peacetime economy.
5. who will staff the important offices of this country on merit rather than patronage.
6. who will seek complete riddance of these forces that tend to curb individual initiative and enterprise as set forth in the Bill of Rights.
7. who will preserve the economy of the country by sound monetary policies. And—
8. who recognize that the government represents all the people who have a right to expect the wisest use of all things for the common good of all.

Thrift is implied in all eight points and becomes the keystone to the American Way of Life. For it is the basis of greater production, the care and stewardship of material things, out of which greater expansion is possible; it is the saving of surplus funds and materials for useful purposes in the future; it is an attitude of conservation which gets the most out of what you have, and it is fundamental in building home, business and society.

Crowning Of Queen Elizabeth Will Be An Expensive Show

By MICHAEL NEWMARCH
LONDON (AP)—The coronation of Queen Elizabeth II promises to be just about the most expensive show on earth, as well as one of the most colorful.

There's just one way you can get a glimpse of the pretty young Queen wearing her historic crown without digging deep into your pockets. Go along early—perhaps even the day before—and stand for hours on jam-packed sidewalks, squeezed between stout crash barriers and soldiers with fixed bayonets.

Seats At $28
That way, you'll see the coronation procession through London next June 2 without paying a cent. But prepare for a most uncomfortable time.

Thousands of seats will be on sale for those willing to pay. In most cases they will cost at least $28.

One big tourist agency, which is lining up sites along the seven-mile route, explains:

"We are telling inquirers that it will not be possible to offer them any seats below 10 guineas (just over $28)."

Originally the agency hoped to have some seats at half that price, but they say high costs of labor and materials made it impossible.

It still is not known how many such private enterprise seats will be available—but they probably will not be sufficient to meet demand even with the high prices.

Government Cuts In

The government is going into the seating business, too, erecting stands along much of the route with bare wood seats for 98,000.

All except 4,000 of these seats will be sold at prices barely sufficient to cover expenses—$9.80 in uncovered stands, $15.40 with roof overhead.

These will not be available for private purchase, however. Some 30,000 are reserved for Commonwealth visitors, and 64,000 will be sold through official and semi-official organizations representing various British activities.

A relative handful will see the actual coronation inside stately Westminster Abbey. But for this privileged few it will cost more and probably mean greater discomfort than for anyone else.

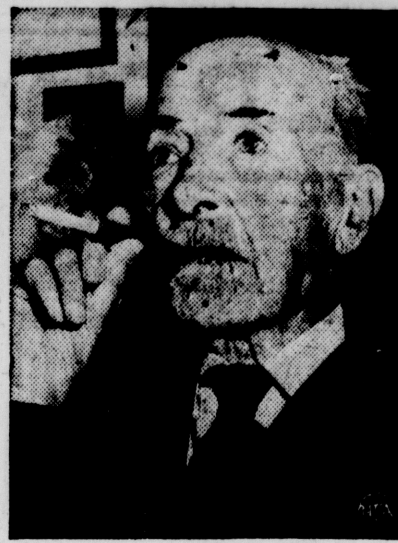

The expense mostly will come from tailors' bills. The bulk of the congregation at the Abbey will be peers and peeresses entitled by ancient tradition to watch the crowning ceremony. They all will need expensive state robes.

Hard-up, blue-blooded families which have sold their coronets also might have to shell out similar sums for headgear.

The discomfort will arise from lack of space. The earl marshal, in charge of arrangements, plans to pack 7,600 people into the Abbey.

That seating plan will crush the nation's nobility shoulder to shoulder.

Those who plan to avoid expense and discomfort by gathering 'round the television set still don't know how much they'll see. The procession will be telecast, but so far a ban has been placed on a "live" show of the proceedings in the Abbey. Labor members of Parliament and others have criticized this loudly and it may be lifted by the final authority on the subject, the Coronation Commission headed by the Duke of Norfolk.

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Kalamazoo is about to lose its distinction of being a debt free city. It has been one for almost 20 years. The City Commission has sent to the State Water Resources Commission for final approval of engineering plans for a sewage treatment plant.

If the agency accepts the plans, the city will submit a $3,200,000 bond issue to voters next April to finance the project.

The money is needed to complete a plant now under construction within the time limit set by the state commission.

IKE and FRED

Over a year ago, Fred came out for Ike. He went all the way—endorsing him enthusiastically for President of the United States. In fact, Fred Alger was the first state official and the only candidate for governor to endorse the General. Many criticized him for doing so because "it's not good politics."

The Ike and Fred combination is as natural as bread and butter. Both are agreed that we must have peace in Korea. Both are agreed that now is the time for efficient economical local, state and national government. And Fred Alger has some very definite ideas along those lines—he urges lower costs and no more taxes.

*Michigan is nearly broke. During the last 4 years under a Democrat governor, the State has spent 24 million dollars which was "in the black," plus about 70 million dollars "in the red." Can you spend more than you take in and not go broke? Of course not. And neither can your State! That is why Fred Alger insists that lower costs of government and not higher taxes, are the answer to Michigan's present financial crisis. And that is exactly the same kind of thinking which General Eisenhower is giving to the national problems.

Isn't it logical then to vote Ike all the way and

Make Do

A HAMMER HEAD will stay on its handle for good if you fasten it this way. Shape the handle end to fit snugly in the hole in the hammer. Cut two shallow grooves in the handle end as shown — each a quarter inch wide and three quarters of an inch long. Cut two strips of sheet metal to fit the grooves. Sharpen an end of each strip to point and bend at right angles. Force prongs into wood at the bottom of the grooves. Force the hammer head on and bend strips over for clinch.

Villagers Harried By Deadly 'Steel Tubes'

BEEDENBOSTEL, Germany (AP)—Death lurks in the walls of this small village in the north German moorlands. Beedenbostel and some other small hamlets in the vicinity have been seized by the jitters since Richard Germer died in his locksmith workshop after a seemingly harmless steel tube he was forging blew up in a violent blast.

Germer's death meant the beginning of many sleepless nights to villagers who took thousands of these steel tubes from a nearby Wehrmacht ammunition depot shortly after the war. The tubes soon were traded on the black market and some local builders bought them to reinforce walls of small farm-houses.

Others were used to fence off pastures or flower-gardens. Results of an investigation into Germer's death chilled the bones of many a farmer.

The "steel-tubes" were special explosives used by German engineers in the war against Russia. Authorities found out that farmer H. Hoppenstedt from nearby Encheholz had fenced off his cattle with 120 such explosive tubes. They said lightning striking into the fence would have set off an atomic like chain explosion.

The U. S. produces more than $1,000,000,000 worth of pig iron annually, a greater value than any other single manufactured product.

They Like Mike

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Greek Ambassador Alexis Kyrrou laughingly suggested last night that Secretary-General Trygve Lie furnish "I like Mike" buttons for U.N. delegates to wear on election day.

Mike is the nickname of Canada's Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson, president of the U.N. Assembly.

Chinese Propaganda
Spoken In German

WITH THE U. S. 2ND DIVISION
IN KOREA (AP)—The Chinese Communists recently directed a night-long propaganda barrage at Dutch troops on T-bone hill in Western Korea—but apparently lacked a Dutch-speaking Chinese.

The broadcast was spoken in German "with an atrocious accent," reported the service newspaper Stars and Stripes. The paper said the German-speaking voice told the Dutch troops "we are here with three Army Corps. We will bring peace."

The Dutch unit said it was the first time the troops could recall a Red propaganda appeal in German.

I vote in the United States Senate for what I think is right, and always in the public interest. I will never compromise my principles to accommodate the special interest of any group.

Blair Moody

Michigan Needs the Leadership of Senator Blair Moody

SENATOR MOODY GETS THINGS DONE . . . KEEP HIM ON THE JOB

When you vote November 4 for a U.S. Senator to represent Michigan, you will make a decision of grave importance. The U.S. Senate can determine whether we shall have peace or atomic war; ruinous inflation or a sound, stable economy; prosperity or depression; continued progress for all or the loss of the gains of the past 20 years. Surely, you want a leader representing you in the U.S. Senate . . . a man of proved legislative ability, intellectual capacity and personal integrity . . .

a man who has shown he can co-operate with the leaders of both parties. Consider carefully the records of the opposing candidates. It is your duty to select a Senator who will represent our State vigorously, stay on the job and get results.

Record PROVES MOODY'S LEADERSHIP

Do YOU want your Senator on the job?

Who was there working for Michigan when it counted? See the record on roll-call votes for 1952. Potter's record for answering roll calls was the lowest of any Republican in the House. His committee absenteeism was even worse.

Do YOU want lower prices?

In the 82nd Congress Moody voted to control inflation; Potter voted to let it run wild.

Are YOU against Communist aggression?

Moody voted for strong alliance against Red aggression declared vital to our nation's survival by both Governor Stevenson and General Eisenhower. Potter voted against.

Do YOU believe in second-class citizenship?

Moody voted AGAINST the notorious McCarran "anti-immigration" Bill which discriminates against the nations of Southern and Eastern Europe and puts naturalized citizens in an inferior status. Potter voted FOR it.

Would YOU vote for a stronger America?

Senator Moody fought, just as he did as a newspaper columnist, for a stronger, swifter build-up of our armed forces to prevent atomic war. Potter in 1952 voted for dangerous limitations of our armed strength.

Are YOU a veteran?

Moody got $45 monthly Korean combat pay for Korean GIs; Potter absent. On GI Bill of Rights for Korean vets, Moody was FOR; Potter ABSENT. On seven key issues listed by ARMY TIMES, Potter was absent on five; voted wrong on two.

How are YOU fixed for shelter?

Moody voted FOR veterans' housing, FOR defense housing, FOR low-rent housing and FOR rent control. Potter voted AGAINST all of them.

Do YOU have children in school?

The "Tidelands Oil Bill" would have denied the schools of all but three states any help from off-shore oil revenues . . . Moody voted FOR your children; Potter voted against them.

Do YOU want a strong farm economy?

Moody voted for 90% parity price supports; Potter was absent.

REPRESENTATIVE POTTER IN NEARLY SIX YEARS

(Representative Potter has not claimed a single major achievement)

Citations . . . MOODY'S STATESMANSHIP

- SENATE LEADER. In a national poll of members of the American Political Science Association, Senator Moody, after only seven months in the U.S. Senate, was rated in the top fifth of the Senate.
- BRILLIANT and CONSTRUCTIVE. "The record made by the junior Senator from Michigan during his brief first term has been brilliant and constructive. Wherever real economy can be effected without risking the security or the welfare of our people, you can count on him to vote right."—Senator Douglas, Illinois.
- INTEGRITY. "You are a good, sound thinker who knows the questions and right answers. I know you will stick to what you believe, and I have great confidence and high hope for you."—Bernard M. Baruch.
- A TRIUMPH. "The unexpected last-minute enactment of combat pay for Korean GI's was a triumph for Senator Moody of Michigan."—Newsweek Magazine.
- CIVIL RIGHTS. "Blair Moody fights for what is fair and just. I have particularly admired his many battles against any form of discrimination because of race, religion, or national origin."—Senator Herbert H. Lehman of New York.
- FORTHRIGHTNESS. Senator Moody accepted every invitation to debate the issues. He has answered every question directed to him. Church Voters' Guide of the Michigan Council of Churches illustrates the contrast: Senator Moody answered the Guide's questionnaire; Representative Potter refused.

COURAGE. Senator Moody (above) received Leadership Award from Citizens' Committee for the Hoover Report for his "courage and statesmanship" as a sincere and unyielding advocate of the merit system, and efficiency and economy in Government.

BLAIR MOODY...the MAN

For nearly 20 years, Blair Moody was Washington Correspondent of The Detroit News, keeping a keen, analytical eye on the interests of the people of Michigan in the nation's capital. He entered the Senate with practical, inside knowledge of Government and public issues. This background and his crusading pro-public spirit helped him to earn the reputation: He gets things done!

He was a war correspondent on the Anzio beachhead, at Cassino, in the Middle East, and elsewhere in World War II. Yearly visits to Europe since the war, plus close collaboration with the late Senator Vandenberg and other leaders of both parties, made him a recognized authority on foreign affairs even before he became a U.S. Senator.

He is Chairman, Senate Anti-Censorship Sub-Committee; Chairman, Senate Small Business Mobilization Sub-Committee; Member, Banking and Currency Committee; Member, Committee on Government Operations.

Here's the man with the experience, integrity and vigor you want to represent you in the U.S. Senate.

Program On Art Given Last Night By Michael Church

Michael Church, director of special projects for the University of Michigan Extension Service, gave a stimulating talk to art painters of the community, including members of the Adult Education art class, and others keenly interested in the subject last evening at Carnegie Public Library.

His program also included an exhibit and two films.

Mr. Church in illustrating his talk showed a series of reproductions of old and new paintings demonstrating the ageless qualities of good painting. Pictures of sculpture done hundreds of years ago were mounted next to those by living artists to show the similarity. Both showed great simplification of form and all could be representative of the old or new art.

Another panel presented by the speaker demonstrated the likenesses of ancient oriental painting and the contemporary.

The first film shown dealt with the work of Henri Matisse, a well-known French painter, still living and painting. It showed the artist at work, many of his famous paintings and some painting in varying stages.

The final film was "Fiddle-Dee-Dee", in which designs were painted directly on film which moved along spiritedly with the musical accompaniment.

Man You No Longer Love Deserves To Be Told

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
There is nothing so foolish as to allow a mistake to go uncorrected. The person who does this generally regrets it. That is why this young woman should take action at once:

(Q) "I am very fond of two men. I accepted a ring from one of them when he left to join the army. He keeps writing me that he wouldn't know what to do if he 'lost' me to someone else. Now I know I made a hasty decision about him as I am very fond of someone else. I am going to tell this man that I have another man's ring. This may turn him against me—he may think if I did this once, I might do it again. I may face bitter consequences but am I doing the right thing?"

(A) Of course you are. If you tell both men honestly how things are with you, the consequences may not turn out to be so bitter as you anticipate.

The first man unquestionably has a clue as to your feelings about him. Otherwise, why would he mention "losing" you to someone else? A man who is sure of the woman he loves never has such a thought crossing his mind.

Naturally it will hurt his pride and give him a great emotional shock to hear that you love someone else. But he is bound to know it in time and there is no point in letting him continue to think you love him. It would be better, however, if you waited until he came home on furlough and you could tell him in person instead of writing to him.

As for the second man, he surely has been in and out of love enough times to know that you are not doing anything unusual. It was hasty of you to accept another man's ring when you were not sure of your feelings but, under the stress of war excitement, this is perfectly understandable.

Surely this man will understand why you acted as you did and will not hold it against you. Of greater importance, it seems to me, are your own feelings. Are you absolutely sure of yourself this time or are you acting on impulse again? Settle this matter in your own mind before taking any action.

Elizabeth Hurlock is a consulting psychologist. Write her in care of this newspaper for free advice.

How To Process Game Is Explained By An Authority

NEW YORK, N. Y.—How to process your game—a most important consideration for all the thousands of hunters in the woods this fall—is treated at length by an expert in the November issue of FIELD & STREAM.

Gleim Parsons, of Casper, Wyoming, who is a pioneer and leading authority in the field of game storage, tells the readers of FIELD & STREAM how to skin, bleed, cut up and save every ounce of precious meat, passing out important hints on preserving the flavor, planning cuts for the table, and using the knife without shredding the meat. His text is supported by eight how-to-do-it photographs of the master at work on an antelope carcass.

Parsons has processed no less than 50,000 deer, elk, antelope, moose, and bear in the course of his career, and he has seen a lot of meat spoiled and wasted by amateur butchers. His instructions are vivid and easy to follow and should greatly help the hunter in dressing out his game after the kill.

Prayers For Nation At St. Stephen's Eve Of Election

A prayer service for the nation on the eve of national election day will be held at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church Monday, Nov. 3, at 8 p. m.

The Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church and president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, has urged all Episcopal churches throughout the country to conduct such services.

In his announcement Bishop Sherrill says:

"We are on the eve of an election of momentous significance to our nation and to the world. Surely if there was ever a time when we should ask the guidance of God it is now. The Church takes no political position. But it is right and proper for the Church to urge our people to exercise the duties and the responsibilities of citizenship as Christians humbly I am writing to suggest that you urge your people to observe Monday, November 3, as a special day of prayer and intercession for our country that in this time of decision it may truly be a Nation under God. With such a preparation we may enter the polling booth determined to serve no selfish purpose but to fulfill God's will."

LUDINGTON BUY-LINES

by Sue Donimus

ONE cynical fellow says women aren't sirens—they're loud speakers! Ah, but shopping at Marcell's can make them sirens... at least, attention getters for smart clothes. Madame DeDyver is now putting a special reduction price on the remainder of her early September shipments of hats to make room for holiday merchandise. These are all very smart velvets and felts; prices start as low as $3.95! A new wool jersey blouse features a tiny collar that glistens with pearls and brilliants. Short bat wing sleeves—in white and colors. For high fashion it's high time you shopped at Marcell's Shoppe!

THE typographical error advised, "For a steak in the future, buy a Gov't bond". — If you want one of the better cuts, better buy two! Maybe that's why snack tray entertaining is so popular these days. At the Photo Art Shop, you'll find some delightful new versions of wooden snack trays — one with a glass cracker tray; a huge lazy susan with a burner under the center casserole! Wooden cutting boards start at a modest dollar, as do the salt and peppers. If you're a smart early Christmas shopper, you wooden make a mistake at the Photo Art!

IF you have trouble deciding the vote at club, girls, remember — the hand is quicker than the "eye". And also remember that some important business you'll want to table is sterling silverware from Blomstrom and Petersen. The lay-away plan is something nice to take advantage of now for your Christmas shopping. Special orders can be placed, too, for Thanksgiving or the holidays. If you like to keep up with the new patterns, you'll want to see "Contour" by Towle. I like the dull sheen of the satin finish, and the very simple, graceful style; $35 a place setting. Blomstrom and Petersen have such a huge selection of sterling from the best silversmiths—Wallace, Lunt, International and Gorham. Time to fork over!

THE most difficult part of getting to the top of the ladder is getting thru the crowd at the bottom. Which reminds me of the attractive social climber I met at Eden's yesterday... "Ivy"... Franciscan dinnerware that's a smart assistant to any hostess. The fresh ivy circling the plate makes for a clean, uncluttered pattern in this fine dinnerware that's resistant to crazing. Another Franciscan pattern at Eden's Gift Shop is "Desert Rose", inspired by the alluring wild primrose of California deserts. Starter sets or one of the many attractive serving pieces make practical Christmas gifts from Eden's gift paradise.

WHEN you wait too long to do that Christmas shopping you'll find a girl's best friend is her mother. If you don't do it early, you'll do it surly... so better stop in at the Office Service Company soon to look over the large selection of Christmas cards which go on display Monday. You'll like their smart, unique selections. And of course you'll want to take advantage of the time saving device of having your name imprinted on the cards in the fine OSCO print shop. Easy to be a card shark when you get a good deal from the Office Service Company!

A REASONABLE cover charge — and think of the fun you'll have giving a hand crocheted tablecloth or bedspread for Christmas! And you make your reservation by stopping at the Variety Gift Shop where a partial deposit will hold one of these artistic masterpieces for you. Home-made quilts in a variety of colors are also available in this exciting gift center. A new addition in the store—crocheted hats and purses to match. You may place your order for any color... matching mother and daughter hats are especially attractive. Variety is the spice of life when it's from the Variety Gift Store.

BETTER: what every girl should know! And add to that — Pendleton jackets and skirts. Because if a girl knows enough to buy these fabulous garments, she has the know how for building a smart wardrobe. New Pendleton jackets that have arrived at Gartner's are in bold plaids and interesting checks. Greens and cinnamon brown are combined in several jackets, and they take on added smartness over a plain Pendleton skirt, or over any of a number of Petti or Handmacher creations. They say a smart girl doesn't blow her knows — but, honey, ah knows you'll like the clothes at Gartner's!

THERE'S one thing to be said for living in Russia — you'd never lose an election bet. And there's no gamble when you send your clothes for dry cleaning at the Escanaba Steam Laundry. It's a sure bet you'll like the fine results turned out by their experienced operators. And while coats and hats are at the cleaners be sure to ask for waterproofing service at a small extra charge to keep you and the kiddies dry in rain and that slushy fall snow. I don't want to Russia, but you'd better hurry down to the Escanaba Steam Laundry!

this is the time!

Stevenson Sends Note To Indians

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Adlai Stevenson, in a message to American Indians, says their average income has increased more than 500 per cent under successive Democratic administrations.

"The Indian death rate has been cut in half," he added in a statement distributed yesterday by the Democratic National Committee.

"The Indian has won the right to vote, the right to share equally with his neighbors in all federal benefits, including the priceless benefits of social security.

"But all this progress, much of it won over bitter Republican opposition, is only a good beginning in the job that lies ahead of us," the Democratic residential nominee said.

"That job is to see that Indians have the same opportunities and the same rights that are enjoyed by their fellow Americans. There is no room for second-class citizenship in our American life."

Study Reveals Frog Love-Making Habits

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Among other things, a 10-year study of frogs has added a new word to the language of love-making.

It's "nudging." That, according to Dr. N. Bayard Green, Marshall College zoologist, is how the Upland Chorus frog procreates. Many of the males, he found, are chaste, but not by choice. He said they just don't get a tumble from the females, who do the courting on their own.

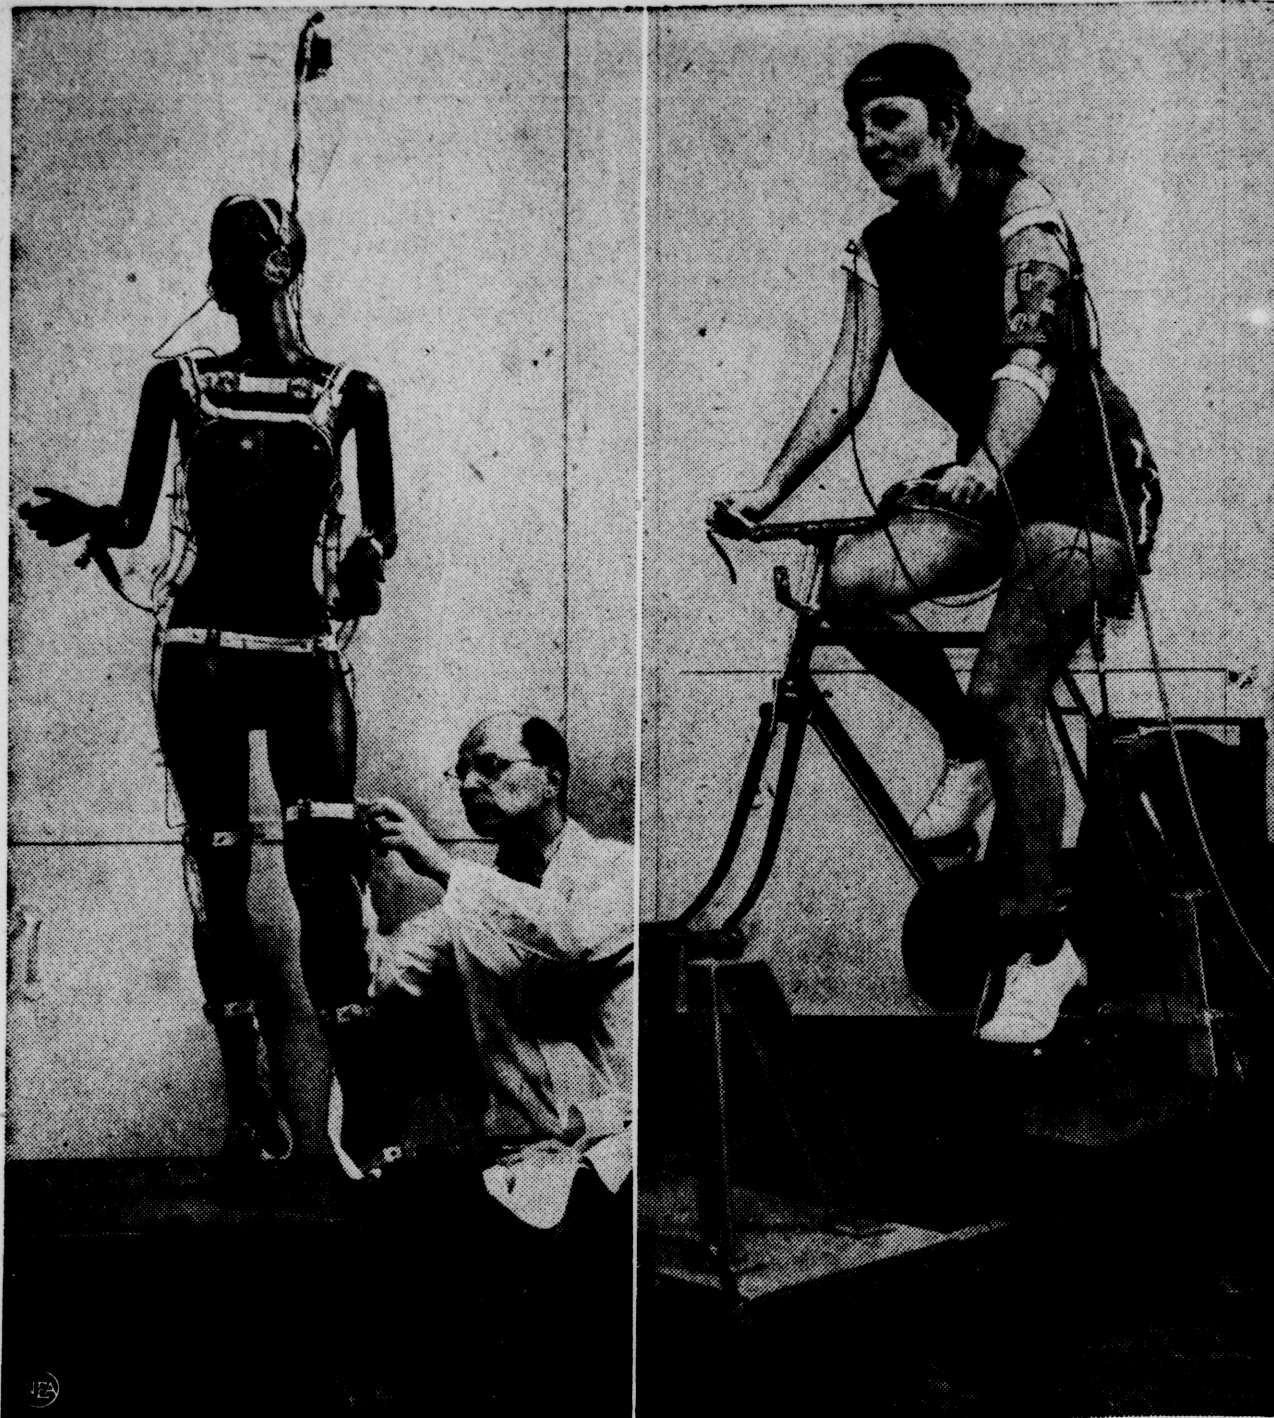

And that croak may simply fail to attract her when boy frog meets girl frog. She always gets her man anyway because there are more "hims" than "hers."

During his long studies Green observed some 6,000 frogs. For that he got a doctor's degree this summer at Ohio State University.

FOR COMFORT AND SAFETY—Physical comfort on the job has a direct bearing on production-reducing fatigue and accidents, it has been found. Steps in a continuing research into these factors at the DuPont plant, Wilmington, Del., are shown above. Data thus gathered determine which types of clothing provide the greatest comfort for workers. Train Resumes Runs After Rerailing Wane

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — The northbound mail train service between Singapore and Kuala Lumpur is being resumed after constant Communist guerrilla attacks and derailments caused it to be suspended 20 months ago. At the peak of the attacks night trains were derailed or fired on several times a week.

Freight trains continued to run at night after suspension of the passenger service. The resumption of the night mail service indicates an improvement in the situation in South Malaya, where security forces under High Commissioner, Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, have been achieving success against the Red insurgents recently.

The U. S. Picks A Leader...

There is something refreshing in the way that the American people pick their president.

Here the voters have a clear-cut choice between two able candidates. Each party is required to "sell" to the electorate the qualifications of its candidate. The choice alone belongs to the people.

Poland just had a Communist-type election, with only one slate of hand-picked candidates. Voters had no choice—they either voted for or against—and very, very few voted "against", under threat of death or worse.

We have our faults, but even they glow with goodness compared to some of the so-called "virtues" of the Communist system.

Thank God we live in America.

• HELP PUT AN END TO THE "SELL OUT" IN HIGH PLACES.

We want no more Amerasia cases, no more Alger Hisses, no more fellow travelers and poor security risks placed in key government spots. Soviet Russia can take over our country without firing a shot if we don't clean out the traitors.

• HELP PUT AN END TO CORRUPTION.

Documented evidence proves that the Truman administration is one of the most corrupt in American history. Only YOUR VOTE can stop the plundering and crooked deals that have besmirched our national honor.

• HELP REDUCE GOVERNMENT EXPENSE AND CUT TAXES.

Only YOUR VOTE can send the spendthrifts home and restore sound management to America. Only YOUR VOTE can help end the "tax-tax...spend-spend" spree.

• HELP BRING PEACE, AN HONORABLE PEACE, TO KOREA.

The Truman administration, sworn testimony proves, "sold out" China to the Reds and laid the scene for the Korean War. Over 100,000 American boys have paid with their blood for this colossal Truman folly. How many more must die? Only YOUR VOTE can help end this senseless struggle.

The destiny of our country is at stake Nov. 4. It is one of the most critical elections in American history.

Church To Hold Evangel Series

Evangelistic services will be held at the First Methodist Church here beginning Sunday evening and continuing through Friday, Nov. 7, it is announced by the Rev. Edgar Smith, pastor.

Services will begin at 7:30 each evening, with a visiting evangelist bringing the worship message.

The evangelist mission of the Methodist Church officially opened Friday when Methodist ministers of the Michigan, Ohio and Wisconsin Conferences went to churches in the Detroit Conference to preach and assist local pastors in the preaching and visitation mission. Pastors in this area attended a school of instruction in Escanaba Friday afternoon.

The local Methodist Youth Fellowship is scheduled to attend a rally and service of consecration tonight.

A visiting evangelist also will occupy the local Methodist pulpit at the morning service tomorrow.

As an important feature of the evangelistic mission, local laymen have been trained by the Rev. Smith to go out in teams and invite others to commit their lives to Christ. These teams will begin their visitation program Sunday afternoon and continue their calls throughout the week.

The series of evangelistic meetings, the Rev. Smith said, will be the high point of Church Loyalty Month which also has included World Wide Communion Sunday, Laymen's Sunday, and services of prayer and consecration.

Ministers Urge All Citizens To Vote On Tuesday

Every citizen who is eligible is urged to vote in next Tuesday's election by the Manistique Ministerial Association which at its October meeting took action to emphasize the patriotic duty of every elector to cast his ballot.

Members of the association declared that it is the duty of every Christian citizen to exercise his voting privilege.

The following message was issued by the association: "Christian citizenship must be active. Every honest effort for decency, for justice, for law enforcement, and for good government should have his support. It should be a matter taken for granted that Christians do not shirk their duties at the polls."

Episcopalians To Prepare For Voting With Prayer Monday

Protestant Episcopal churches have been instructed by their presiding bishop, Henry K. Sherrill, to observe a special day of prayer and intercession for the United States on Monday, Nov. 3, it is announced by George Drew, lay minister of St. Alban's Episcopal Church.

In his letter to various churches, Bishop Sherrill said: "We are on the eve of an election of momentous significance to our nation and to the world. Surely if there was ever a time when we should ask the Guidance of God, it is now. The Church takes no political position. But it is right and proper for the Church to urge our people to exercise the duties and the responsibilities of citizenship as Christians humbly asking God's help and His blessing upon the nation."

No. 1 Spartans Favored Today

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Michigan State's Spartans, going after their 21st straight football victory today against Purdue's Boilermakers, were two-touchdown favorites but far from complacent.

The Spartans ranked No. 1 nationally in the Associated Press weekly poll. Purdue was No. 8. Purdue end Bernard Flowers is the Big Ten's top scorer with 42 points. Quarterback Dale Samuels has thrown eight touchdown passes. And plowboy Max Schmaling has averaged almost 5 yards in 84 rushes.

Michigan State also owns a bundle of impressive statistics. It has seven different men who have caught touchdown passes.

Tom Yewic, the Spartans' quarterback, has matched Samuels' eight touchdown passes. And five Spartan backs have averaged over five yards rushing, topped by left halfback Don McAuliffe's 7.7 average for 44 carries.

A near-capacity crowd of about 50,000 was expected.

team which won the district tournament and lost in the Regional finals are Bob Sendenburgh, John Martinac, Jim Gravelle, Dick Cass, Tom Brien, Jerry McDonough and Jim Zimmerman.

Seniors are Sendenburgh, Martinac, Gravelle, Brien, Tom Millington and Dan Marsicek.

Juniors out for the squad are Cass, McDonough, Zimmerman, Dick Bryson, Dave Hinn, Bill Maycunich, Gary Guertin, Stan Venne and Bob Rademacher.

Eligible sophomores are Jim Weber, Bill Lancour, Bob Snow and Bob Moreau. Three sophomores, Raymond Roy, Bob Beaudreau and Frank Mileski, will become eligible after the first semester.

Thirteen freshmen out for the squad are Bob Dubord, Arnold Henriksen, Harold Olson, Mike Venne, Mike Rooney, Elmer Brazeau, Gary Paler, Wayne LaFave, Fred Beaudry, Joe Juetten, Dan Rousseau, Melvin Gauthier and Dennis McGinn.

Coach St. Germain lost only two members of his last year's team which was the scourge of Class C cage circles. Pete Kutches, all-U. P. and all-state cager who was named to the all-American second team following the all-high school classic in Murray, Ky., and Bill Baker have graduated.

The Trojans open their 1952-53 cage slate Nov. 22 in a home stand against the Escanaba Eskymos.

NWM Puck Meeting Postponed To Nov. 9

The Northern Michigan-Wisconsin Hockey league meeting scheduled to be held at the House of Ludington here tomorrow afternoon has been postponed until Sunday afternoon, Nov. 9, it was announced by the Escanaba Hockey Association this morning.

A telephone call was received here late yesterday from Harold Alholm, of Marquette, league president, who reported that team representatives from Calumet and Houghton would be unable to attend tomorrow and had asked for a postponement.

Escanaba, Marquette and Eagle River officials have agreed to the postponement—until after the presidential election—and the meeting is now set for 2 p. m. (EST) Sunday, Nov. 9, in Escanaba. It will mark the first time Escanaba has been host to an NWM meeting.

"Because of the copper miners' strike in the Calumet area and because Portage Lake is in the midst of negotiation with Michigan College of Mining and Technology officials for use of Dee Stadium, it was deemed advisable to postpone the get-together," Alholm said.

In order to make the final organization meeting a more effective planning session, Escanaba officials promptly agreed to the delay.

"It's okeh with us," Hockey Association directors told the league president. "We'll have that much more work to show you at the U. P. Fair exhibition building by November 9."

ci its 41st victory in a row. Morenci, proud owner of the longest win streak in modern Michigan prep history, got past Blissfield 14-13 thanks to Gene Staelsen's accurate footwork in kicking two conversion points. Marcus Cisco scored both Morenci touchdowns on runs of 57 and 25 yards.

Clarence Davis and Frank Moeller provided two touchdowns apiece toward Port Huron's 17th straight victory, by far the best in the state among Class A schools.

Ann Arbor, Port Huron Retain Unbeaten Ways

Ann Arbor and Port Huron sailed on in their unbeaten, untied ways in Michigan's Class A high school football Friday night, but Lincoln Park dropped out of that exclusive circle.

The Big Reds of Port Huron made it a decisive 27-7 win over Birmingham while Ann Arbor was being held to its lowest score of the year in beating Ypsilanti 21-7. Wyandotte ruined things for Lincoln Park with a 21-0 shutout of a team that had won six straight.

Michigan's other undefeated Class A teams, University of Detroit high and Detroit Eastern, won Thursday games and clash Nov. 13 for the municipal championship.

Morenci Sneaks By
 A single point gave little Morenci

Cross country coach Henry Wylie, whose Escanaba Eskymos placed second to Soo in the U. P. championship meet here recently, has been in the game a long time. Henry surely rates as the dean of Upper Peninsula track coaches on his record that includes four years of high school competition, four years of college competition and 24 years in the coaching ranks. He's been guiding Escanaba harriers for 23 seasons.

At yesterday's awards assembly Coach Wylie traced the cross country career of two of his star performers. Harlan Yelland began running as a sophomore in 1950 and won a minor letter as the sixth man on the team which topped the U. P. championship. As a junior he was the Eskymo's No. 4 man and received a medal and another minor letter, placing 14th in the championship run. This year as a senior he was No. 2 on the team and finished seventh to earn a medal and a major letter.

"It's boys like Harlan who make a cross country team a success," Coach Wylie told the assembly of Escanaba student and teachers. And when it came time to present his letter to Dick Casey, Upper Peninsula cross country champion and new record holder, Coach Wylie was nearly at a loss for words. Casey ran a race the likes of which is seldom seen in cross country when he nipped Manistique's Jack Quinn at the wire for the U. P. crown.

"We were all especially happy to see Dick win his race by coming from behind," Coach Wylie recounted. Last year in the Upper Peninsula championship mile race at Houghton, Dick led Soo's Truman Van Luvren right down to the wire before losing by a scant six inches. He learned a lesson and turned the tables on Quinn in the rugged cross country test this year. It was Casey's second time in competition in the cross country event. A year ago at Iron Mountain he ran it for the first time and finished a strong fourth.

At the awards program, minor letters were presented to Carl Gray, Dave Gilbert, Pat Gallagher, Dick Ferrari and James King. Receiving honorable mention were Jim McCormick, Robert Degnan, Don Anderson and Jon Clayton. McCormick, a senior, was competing for the third year but was handicapped this season by a foot injury.

touchdowns before permitting defense-minded Ypsilanti to score midway in the final period.

Benton Harbor's Jack Cox broke through to recover a Muskegon Heights fumble and ran 27 yards for a score that gave his team a 20-14 victory in the last minutes of play. The win put Benton Harbor in first place in the Southwestern Conference.

Worst Defeat
 Detroit Catholic Central handed Flint Northern a 32-6 defeat—the worst the Vikings have suffered in 10 years. The Shamrocks ruined the homecoming of former Detroit coach, by scoring twice on pass interceptions and twice after recovering fumbles.

Battle Creek held favored Muskegon to a 13-13 tie when Ken Griffin ran a fourth-quarter kickoff back to the Muskegon 30 and then passed 31 yards to Dick Dean for a touchdown. Wolverines Eye Fourth In Row

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Prosperous Michigan collides with needy Illinois here today in a Wolverine bid for a fourth straight Western Conference victory and a firmer hold on the league leadership.

Michigan, co-leader of the Big Ten with Purdue, rated a decided edge against the injury-ridden Illini who have won only two non-league starts this year while dropping conference decisions to Wisconsin, Minnesota and Purdue.

The Wolverines reversed that trend, dropping non-league tilts to Michigan State and Stanford, but winning against conference foes Indiana, Northwestern and Minnesota.

While Michigan improved steadily, Illinois, the Big Ten defending champion and Rose Bowl victor over Stanford, was plagued with a series of injuries that stymied fullback Bill Tate, halfback Austin Duke and handicapped ace safety man and Capt. Al Brosky.

Brosky may play with a back brace to protect a cracked vertebrae.

The balanced Michigan offense features such backs as Ted Kress, Big Ten individual single game rushing champion, Frank Howell, Tony Branoff, Ted Topor and Dick Balzhiser.

Four Of Top Teams Tangle Today

Two Big Grid Tests

By ED CORRIGAN
 NEW YORK (AP)—The eyes of the college football world turned today to Durham, N. C., and Berkeley, Calif., where the two battles of the nation's grid Goliaths were scheduled.

At Durham, before a sellout crowd of 45,000, Georgia Tech went against Duke, while on the other end of the country, the University of California tangled with UCLA.

All told these four powerhouses have lost exactly one game—a California defeat at the hands of Southern California last week. All the others have identical unblemished records, six victories and no defeats.

Rumors were circulating in Durham that Georgia Tech would be given a Sugar Bowl bid no matter how the contest turned out, and that its opponent would be Villanova, one of the top teams in the East, which preserved its unbeaten record with a 20-20 tie.

against the Parris Island Marines last night.

The Engineers were expected to rely on the running ability of Leon (Shorty) Hardeman while Duke was banking on the accurate passing of Worth Lutz, a bloke who hasn't had one of his passes intercepted this season. Georgia Tech rates No. 4 in the weekly Associated Press Football poll and Duke No. 6.

The UCLA-Cal game will have a big bearing on the Pacific Coast Conference race and who gets the Rose Bowl bid. The Golden Bears were rated the team to beat until they were dumped by Southern California. Now USC and UCLA are the only unbeaten in the conference.

Evenly Matched
 The two teams are so evenly matched that the pregame line listed UCLA as a mere half-point choice.

The big one in the East pitted Penn, the potential champion of the Ivy League, against its intra-state rival, Penn State, which it hasn't beaten since 1936. Penn is unbeaten, though tied twice, while the Nittany Lions were unbeaten until they ran into Michigan State. The Quakers were rated one-touchdown favorites.

Michigan State, rated the No. 1 team in the country, took the field against Purdue, which currently is tied for the Big Ten leadership and a trip to the Rose Bowl with Michigan. The Boilermakers are undefeated in the league, but, strangely, haven't been able to win outside the loop.

They figure to be the toughest bunch the Spartans have faced this season, and if Biggie Munn and his operatives are going to be victimized at all, this seems to be the time to do it. But it's unlikely.

The country's other two big boys, Maryland and Oklahoma, which rate second and third respectively, were paired with setups. The Terps had Boston University, which, in turn, had Harry Agganis and not much more. Oklahoma's opposition was Iowa State.

Kansas, which still has a chance of beating out Oklahoma—slight though it may be—for the Big Seven crown, played Kansas State. Texas was favored over Southern Methodist in the Southwest Conference game, and Michigan tangled with Illinois in an effort to grab undisputed lead in the Big Ten.

MIAMI UPSETS

Other top games included Notre Dame-Navy, Georgia-Alabama, Auburn-Florida, North Carolina-Tennessee, Baylor-Texas Christian, Ohio State-Northwestern TV game of the week, Indiana-Pitt, Virginia Military Institute-Army, Dartmouth-Yale, George Washington-West Virginia, Louisiana State-Mississippi, Mississippi State-Tulane, South Carolina-Virginia, Holy Cross-Marquette, Iowa-Minnesota, Missouri-Nebraska, Wisconsin-Rice, Arkansas-Texas A and M, Colorado-Utah and Washington-Oregon State.

In two other major contests last night, Kentucky upset Miami, Fla., 29-0, and Clemson shut out Boston College, 13-0.

Quarterback Yewcic Puts Spartans High In National Rating

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Michigan State leads the major colleges in total offense, is 7th in rushing and 4th in forward passing according to latest NCAA statistics.

And the lad chiefly responsible is quarterback Tom Yewcic, Cone-mough, Pa., junior who has taken over the Spartan signal calling this year after about only 20 minutes total game time during the 1951 campaign.

The tousle-haired Yewcic has worked hard enough to grab a spot for himself in the national listings, currently being 19th in total offense almost entirely on the basis of his passing. He has handled the ball in 78 plays, good for 782 yards. Of this total, 64 plays were passes, with 735 yards gained in this manner.

And, school records aplenty may fall before Yewcic is through the 1952 season. He is at present just 107 yards short of the single season yards-gained-passing mark set by Al Dorow last year. Against Texas A. and M., this season, he was within 20 yards of the single game yards-gained-passing mark set at 241 yards by Gene Glick in 1948, and completed 17 passes, just two shy of Al Dorow's single game passing mark set in 1950.

Capt. Don McAuliffe and LeRoy Bolden, both playing at the left halfback position have the team rushing leadership in their hands this week. McAuliffe has a 7.7 average per try with 339 total yards in 44 attempts. Bolden has a similar average with 231 yards in 30 attempts. Billy Wells ranks third with a 5.2 average per try, picking up 278 yards in 53 attempts.

In pass receiving, Ellis Duckett tops the Spartans with 283 yards and 7 catches. He has scored four times on passes.

Bolden also holds the team scoring lead with 36 points on 6 touchdowns, while Evan Slonack rates second with 25 on 1 TD and 19 of 24 conversions.

Browns Rate Slim Edge Over Lions Tomorrow

NEW YORK (AP)—The Cleveland Browns, holding a one-game lead in the American conference, are rated slim one-point favorites over the Detroit Lions tomorrow.

Meanwhile, the red-hot San Francisco 49ers, holding a two-game edge in the National conference, are 15-point picks to hand the Chicago Bears their fourth setback in six games.

These games top an attractive schedule which also finds New York at Chicago Cardinals, Philadelphia at Green Bay, Pittsburgh at Washington and Dallas at Los Angeles.

Detroit must win against the Browns or face the possibility of falling three full games behind the 49ers. After a so-so start, winning two of four games, the Lions finally got rolling last Sunday and swamped Green Bay, 52-17.

The unbeaten 49ers should have little difficulty with the Bears. Two weeks ago the 49ers handed the Chicagoans their worst drubbing in history, 40-16.

The Giants are six-point picks to stop the Cardinals.

At Washington, the Redskins will be three-point favorites to win their first home game of the season over Pittsburgh.

Defending champion Los Angeles is expected to lick the Texans, who haven't won yet.

Green Bay and Philadelphia are rated even for their game.

Packers Can Hit .500 With Win Over Eagles

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The Green Bay Packers will be out to even their record in the National Conference at three wins and three losses when they engage the Philadelphia Eagles in a National Football League contest in Marquette Stadium here Sunday afternoon. Kickoff is set for 1:30.

The Packers suffered loss No. 3 at the hands of the Detroit Lions in Green Bay last Sunday, 52 to 17, and they're anxious to bounce back hard in an effort to maintain a slim chance for the National Conference championship.

Green Bay's task won't be easy Sunday. The Eagles possess a 3-2 record in the American conference and their latest win was a 14-10 gem over the Giants in New York. The other two victories were reared over Pittsburgh while the two losses were at the hands of the Giants in an earlier contest and the Cleveland Browns.

The Packers, who uncouled 380 yards by passing against Detroit, are expected to unleash their potent air attack, with Tobin Rohe and Babe Parilli pitching. Parilli ranks first in the league in passing while Rohe is a close second. On the receiving side will be the brilliant rookie, Bill Howton, and veteran Bobby Mann.

The Eagles' attack will be engineered by a former Packer quarterback—Bobby Thomason, who presided over the victory over the Giants. Thomason, a pin-point passer, threw the winning touchdown pass to end Bob Watson.

The Eagles will present revised lineup. Offensive end Pete Pihos, for years one of the club's top receivers, will be at defensive end, representing one of six switches that helped make the Eagles a "new" team against the Giants.

Sunday's game will be the Packers' last appearance in the 1952 season in Milwaukee. In two earlier league matches there they whipped Washington, 35-20, but lost to Los Angeles, 30-28. A crowd of around 15,000 is expected Sunday.

Two Former Spartan Boxers On Mitt Show

DETROIT (AP)—Two promising ex-Michigan State boxers will appear in preliminaries to the Joe De John-Norman Hayes middleweight fight at Olympia Stadium here Nov. 12.

Jed Black, a welterweight who scored a one-round knockout in his only previous Detroit outing, will meet Billy Van Gilden of Syracuse, N. Y., in a six-rounder. Van Gilden is a product of Cornell University.

Chuck Spieser, the other ex-Spartan now in the pro ranks, also will be on the program but no opponent has been signed yet.

Billy Loes, youngest member of the Brooklyn Dodger pitching staff, will be 23 on Dec. 13.

Federal Payroll Shows Decrease

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's civilian employees decreased in September for the second successive month, a Senate-House committee reported today.

The 73 government agencies had 2,571,527 workers in September, a drop of 18,566 as compared with August. Prior to August, federal employment had been climbing rapidly since the start of the Korean War in June, 1950.

Although the September, 1952, job total fell off from the previous month it still represented an increase of 76,008 as compared with September a year ago, when the federal payroll totaled 2,495,519 persons.

The Joint Congressional Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures said seasonal factors as well as cutbacks in military defense jobs brought about the September decrease this year.

The principal reduction came in the Defense, Agriculture, Commerce, Interior and Justice Departments and the Economic Stabilization Agency. The cutbacks in the Agriculture and Interior Departments chiefly involved seasonal employees of the forest and park services. The ESA layoffs were required by enactment of the last Congress, the committee said.

Some agencies — including the Postoffice and State Departments, the Veterans Administration and the Panama Canal — reported increases.

Filipino Spring Lures Cure-Seekers

MANILA (AP)—Thousands of persons seeking a cure-all for various ailments have converged on a Philippine village just north of Manila in Central Luzon lured by the waters of a spring.

The spring was said to have been discovered by a sick woman who dreamed the village's patron saint told her to look for the spring near a chapel and use the waters to cure herself. According to the report, the woman was cured four days after bathing in the water.

Non-Violent Hindus Run Bird Hospital

By R. SATAKOPAN

NEW DELHI (AP) — A religious sect maintains a bird hospital here capable of handling 400 feathered patients. The Delhi Jain Bird Hospital attends sick and injured birds brought to it and sends out patrols to pick up strays in need of care. Its service is free, but one rule of admission stops many keepers of bird pets. Once a patient is on his feet he goes free and not back into a cage.

Wealth For Charity

Founded 20 years ago, the Jain Bird Hospital is supported by India's most nonviolent sect of Hinduism. The Jains preach and practice nonviolence. They walk and sit with extreme care to avoid harming an ant or worm.

The Jains, however, are among India's wealthiest people. Their religion ordains that a part of this wealth be earmarked for temples, hospitals and homes for the poor.

The bird hospital has an eight-man staff, most of them retired Jain doctors whose avocation is attending birds. It supplies a surgical ward, special apparatus for checking the temperatures of its bird patients and even special electrical appliances for the treatment of paralytic birds.

Penguins Are Queer Birds, Writers Find

WASHINGTON—The penguin is a clown in formal dress, a bird that "flies" underwater, eats pebbles, and often cannot tell whether the neighboring bird he is courting is a little girl penguin or just another boy that is fooling him.

The fascinating habits and idiosyncrasies of these remarkable inhabitants of the Southern Hemisphere are thoroughly explored by David Hellyear and Malcolm Davis in "Nature's Clown, the Penguin," in the National Geographic Magazine.

The writers find that there are six genera of penguins, and from 17 to 22 living species, ranging in size from the powerful emperor, who may grow to a height of four feet, down to the bantamweight Eudyptula minor, an Australian native that measures a bare 15 or 16 inches. All wear black tail-coats with white shirtfronts. Color markings differ on the head.

None range north of the Equator, and the emperor spends his entire life on the frigid Antarctic continent, where the temperature may go to 77 degrees below zero. Other varieties, such as the Galapagos, named for their native islands, live practically on the equator. All eat marine crustacea, cuttlefish and other seafood.

Truly Flightless

Penguins are truly flightless birds, in that they never rise higher into the air than they can jump. Instead of wings they have flippers, which enable them to travel at remarkable speed under water. With these flippers they literally fly beneath the surface. One variety has been clocked swimming 30 feet a second, submerged. Out of the water they walk or hop on their short legs, or make fair speed sliding on their bellies.

Despite their manlike formal attire and their ability to clown, penguins probably would win no prizes in intelligence tests. As an example of stupidity, Hellyear and Davis cite the Adelies, who "are so pea-brained that, in their anxiety to be good fathers and mothers, they will often brood over a small rock, a piece of ice, or a dead and frozen chick. Lacking the genuine article, one Adelle was observed baby-sitting on a discarded cheese tin."

Sometimes, instead of sitting on rocks, penguins eat them. Pebbles frequently are found in their alimentary canals.

Confusing Courtship

Pebbles also are important in penguin courtship, which can be rather confusing to penguins and observers alike. A hopeful male picks up a pebble and offers it to his intended as a prize. If, instead of accepting it, the lady rejects it and turns out to be another male, and it sometimes happens, the pebble has to be picked up and offered all over again.

The absurdity to which this confusion can be carried was once illustrated forcefully to the noted ornithologist, Dr. Robert Cushman Murphy. A particularly myopic courting penguin approached him and gravely laid a pebble at his feet!

Penguins sometimes are remarkably courteous to man. Explorers tell of approaching penguin colonies only to have a deputation of birds advance toward them, led by a spokesman who gravely offers an address of welcome in penguin language.

Stupid as they may be, penguins have a well-developed sense of self-preservation. Playing on an ice shelf and desiring to swim, Adelies will be curious about the safety of the water. They want to know if there is a hungry leopard seal in the neighborhood. To determine this they maneuver around until one bird gets pushed overboard. If the trial balloon comes up uneaten, the whole gang takes to the water.

We Need Reapportionment

Area vs. People

Michigan isn't the only state that is wrestling this year with the problem of how to reapportion its State Legislature according to the principle that all inhabitants are entitled to an equal voice in legislative affairs.

The extent to which they get an equal voice depends, of course, on the method used in dividing up state districts, or whether area too, should be taken into consideration.

Wisconsin is having the same battle this year. To keep the principle clear, it is worth noting what the Milwaukee Journal has to say editorially on the area vs. population conflict.

"The scheme to count 'area' instead of people in making up around the state," it says, "as though it were some great principle we had been overlooking. It is not a valid precedent, and it has no valid precedent. It is a device pure and area necessarily doesn't even mean way of not giving everybody an equal vote."

The newspaper goes on to say that area advocates point to similar factors in other states and in the national government. "Some other states," it answers, "have inequality, it is true, but they don't count area—the same discount in government to a county with 20,000 people and a county with 4,500,000 a township with 200 and a city with 200,000. Such states are scarcely to be admired and copied, are they?"

The "area" spokesmen know the United States Senate is not a model, but it sounds good and they keep saying it, no matter how often its irrelevancy is pointed out. Numerically equal representation in the Senate (regardless of area) was simply a necessary inducement to sovereignty and join a federal union.

Once you open the door to these area plans in a state, where do you stop? At the point where 40% of the people have 60% of the legislative power, or some day perhaps where 10% have 90%?"

It should not require argument to show that political or sovereign power can only be exercised by persons, and not on the basis of area or residence. This is The Journal's contention in basic principle, in Michigan.

What the reapportionment debate in Wisconsin is, in Wisconsin as in Michigan, is this: The issue is an emotional one, in which straight-out logic is by no means the only factor. The question is one of how far the people will go in overcoming the prejudices of the past, even though they recognize that reapportionment by population is in itself correct. However, population works out, we should at least be willing to argue the issue on logic as well as habits of the past. To assign political rights on the basis of area does, whether we want to face it or not, violate the fundamental principle of equality among citizens of the state. It is a principle for which the Revolutionary war was fought and won.
